Peking Looks for Weakness in Asia Policy

China Is Quick to Hit LBJ

Viet Nam, Laos, N. Korea Hostile

B JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Red China has thrown down the gauntlet to President Johnson. He faces the prospect of stepped-up warfare in South Viet Nam and Laos and possibly new crises in Korea and Cambodia.

The Peking regime has made it clear it is determined to probe for any sign of U.S. uncertainty or weakness in Asian policy following the death of President Kennedy.

Denounce Johnson

The Chinese swiftly denounced Johnson as a supporter of Kennedy's "various reactionary policies." This has been followed by hostile appraisals of Johnson from North Viet Nam and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao of Laos.

North Korea has not reacted officially to the American change of leadership. But it has stepped up the virulence and volume of its anti-U.S. campaign.

Prime Proving Ground

The war in South Viet Nam is a prime proving ground for China's tough revolutionary theories.

North Viet Nam, which directs and assists Communist subversion in the south, quickly announced the fighting would continue as it had when Kennedy was directing U.S. assistance to South Viet Nam's anti-Communist forces.

To underline this threat, the Viet Cong guerrillas mounted powerful attacks on strategic hamlets in the south, dealing the young military regime some of the heaviest blows of the war.

Echoes Peking Line

In Laos, the Pathet Lao Tuesday removed all doubts about where its allegiance lies. Once supported by the Russians, it now echoes Peking's line.

The Pathet Lao radio said: "The U.S. imperialists will continue their policy of intervention in Laos and become more inflexible. Under such circumstances the Laotian people should never harbor any illusions about Johnson. No matter who becomes president, the nature of U.S. imperialism remains unchanged and its policy will continue to be aggressive and bellicose.'"

This means that the Pathet Lao will no longer respond to Soviet attempts to check its aggressive moves.

Kennedy's death was the signal for harsh, new attacks from North Korea.

The North Koreans, without apparent reason, have staged several shooting incidents on the 38th parallel in recent months. Now they may again test military reactions in their sector.

Named for JFK

Senators Start Probe Of Kennedy's Slaying

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee, reportedly in cooperation with the Justice Department, has launched an investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy.

Sources in a position to know said that the Justice Department already has begun funneling information from FBI agents to the committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Hearings Next Month

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, top GOP member of the committee, told newsmen he expected public hearings next month before Congress takes a Christmas recess.

Dirksen told the Senate Tuesday night that a full-scale investigation by the Judiciary Committee had been approved by Senate leaders of both parties.

The inquiry will cover not only the assassination of Kennedy last Friday as he rode in a motorcade through Dallas, but also the subsequent slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, by Jack Ruby, a Dallas night club operator.

Way to Stop Lying

The court of inquiry is necessary, he said, because it is the

Area Mourners Report on Visit To Capital Rites

"Within seconds it was over; 6½ hours of waiting in the night and 6 hours of traveling, and it was worth every moment."

With these words, a spokesman for a group of 30 Kingston area residents who made a chartered bus trip to Washington on Monday to witness the funeral of the martyred John F. Kennedy, described what it was like to be a part of history; to watch in grief the passing of the caisson "merely yards from where we stood" as it bore the stilled body of the slain president to its final resting place.

They were but a small segment of the millions who mourned the president's death from near and far, but who unlike the vast majority whose requiem was restricted to the medium of television, were fortunate enough to see that moment in history "right in front of our eyes."

The local group left Kingston at 7 p. m. Sunday. They stopped two hours later in Southern New Jersey for refreshments and to buy sandwiches to have on hand through what was expected to be a sleepless night.

Mrs. James Costello, one of the group, said two other chartered

Johnson Vigorous In Work

Fully Recovered From '55 Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—It isn't likely that President Johnson ever will forget that July day in 1955 as his car rolled through the Virginia countrside.

He had been working hard. As majority leader of the Senate under a Republican president, he was known as a master persuader.

Already there was talk about the Democratic nomination for president.

Now—on this Saturday, July 2, he was bound for the Middleburg, Va., home of a friend. Suddenly it came — the severe pain in the chest.

There was the emergency examination by a local doctor who diagnosed a heart attack, then the quick trip to the Naval hospital in Bethesda, Md., and the life-saving work of doctors.

A few days later, a fellow senator said doctors told him the 46-year-old Johnson had almost died: "The first few hours were extremely serious."

A Model Patient

During his convalescence, the senator was probably a model patient.

He accepted the facts of the case well and did something about them. A chain-smoker, he quit smoking. Weighing about 220 pounds, he dieted—and in a few months was down to about 175.

His convalescence progressed from the hospital to his Washington home to his Texas ranch.

At his ranch, he began a careful regimen of exercise—short walks morning and afternoon.

Redesign His Life

Doctors then set about redesigning the life of Lyndon Johnson as much as the man's personality would premit.

The regular checkups every month spelled out the spectacular recovery. Blood pressure normal. Pulse normal, X-rays showed no enlargement of the heart that would indicate it was compensating for some vital returned to normal, showing damage. Electrocardiographs returned to normal, showing the heart had recovered its regularity of function.

His wife, Lady Bird, helped by sharing his rigid diet.

Normal Again

On Dec. 14, one of his doctors was able to report:

"Senator Johnson is now ac-

Rockefeller Asks for Thanksgiving Help Through Three Groups

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has called on New York residents to observe Thanksgiving by joining in three programs to help the needy throughout the world.

In his Thanksgiving Day proclamation issued Tuesday, Rockefeller referred to the "share the substance" appeal sponsored by Protestant churches, The Roman Catholic "Bishops' Thanksgiving Collection," and the United Jewish Appeal.

Award Electrol $90,000 Contract For Copter Work

The Vertol Division of the Boeing Company has awarded Electrol Incorporated, Grand Street, on order for $90,000 for nose gear assembly for the Navy HRB Helicopter.

William S. Gillmor, president of Electrol which manufactures hydraulic equipment for both the commercial and military aircraft industry, reported that this brings cumulative orders from October to this date to over $300,000.

Electrol, Gillmor said, now has a backlog of undelivered orders in excess of $2,000,000. This past month Electrol found it necessary to put on a night shift to satisfy customers requirements.

The increasing sales activity, he contends, is a firm indication of Electrol's strong position in the aviation industry.

Little Remains to Remind of JFK

Presidential Office Is Entirely Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential office doesn't lok at all like it did last Thursday when John F. Kennedy left it for a tragic trip to Texas.

With one exception, that is. At one end there still is what you might call a reception center for distinguished visitors, with the sofas, coffee table and a rocking chair facing the fireplace.

Johnson's Rocker

But it isn't the rocker that Kennedy and his ailing back helped make famous. This is a new one that White House officials said Johnson brought from home.

The cocktail table in this intimate little grouping has a white marble top. The old one was walnut. The telephone now is on an end table at the end of a sofa rather than on the edge of the coffee table.

Otherwise there is little that remains to remind anyone of Kennedy. That is true partly because of some Kennnedy decisions, rather than Johnson changes.

A redecorating had been planned to start and finish while Kennedy was in Texas. That has been carried out. In the Kennedy days there was a light green sculptured rug on the floor, with the presidential seal. A brilliant red one has taken its place. The White House said Kennedy picked it out.

The walls have been repainted to a bone-white, lighter than before. White draperies, edged in red, and white mesh curtains hang at the windows.

Navy Reminders Gone

Former Navy man Kennedy had models of ships and prints of naval battles around the place in profusion. His desk was an ornately carved black piece

CRandTax Cut Action Is Urged

Calls for Ending Hate, Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told the nation and the world today that the ideas and ideals of John F. Kennedy "must and will be translated into effective action."

The new President appealed at the same time for "an end to the teaching and preaching of hate and evil and violence."

In a 1,500-word address prepared for a joint session of the Senate and House, Johnson specifically called for early congressional action to set up new civil rights safeguards and enact an $11-billion tax cut.

Fitting Memorial

"No memorial oration or eulogy, could more eloquently honor President Kennedy's memory than the earliest possible passage of the civil rights bill for which he fought," Johnson said.

And he said, "No act of ours could more fittingly continue the work of President Kennedy than the earliest passage of the tax bill for which he sought."

The new chief executive said: "This is no time for delay—it is a time for action."

Johnson opened his address by saying:

"All I have I would have given gladly not to be standing here today."

Johnson, who called the assassination of President Kennedy "the foulest deed of our time," declared that Kennedy must be commemorated in actions.

Immediate Tasks

"Our most immediate tasks," Johnson said, "are here on this hill," meaning in Congress.

Johnson appealed for United effort by a nation that goes forward "in action, in tolerance and mutual understanding." In one of his most emotional passages Johnson asserted:

"The time has come for Americans of all races and creeds and political beliefs to understand and respect one another. Let us put an end to the teaching and preaching of hate and evil and violence. Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream."

Hopes for New Fellowship

Johnson expressed the hope that "the tragedy and torment of these terrible days will bind us together in new fellowship."

"Let us here highly resolve," he said, "that John Fitzgerald Kennedy did not live or die — in vain. And on this Thanksgiving eve, as we gather together to ask the Lord's blessing let us unite in those familiar and cherished words: 'America, America, God shed his grace on thee and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.'"

Johnson, the first southern president since Andrew Johnson succeeded the assassinated Abraham Lincoln, left no doubt about his commitment to the cause of civil rights.

"We have talked long enough

Teachers to Take Drastic Action on Standards, Pay

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The New York State Teachers Association says it will use sanctions — if necessary — in pressing boards of education to improve standards for students and boost teachers' salaries.

A resolution calling for sanctions was approved Tuesday by the association's house of delegates as it wound up a two-day convention.

Means Endorsed

The 860,000-member National Education Association, parent organization of the state group, has said sanctions are proper weapons for teachers.

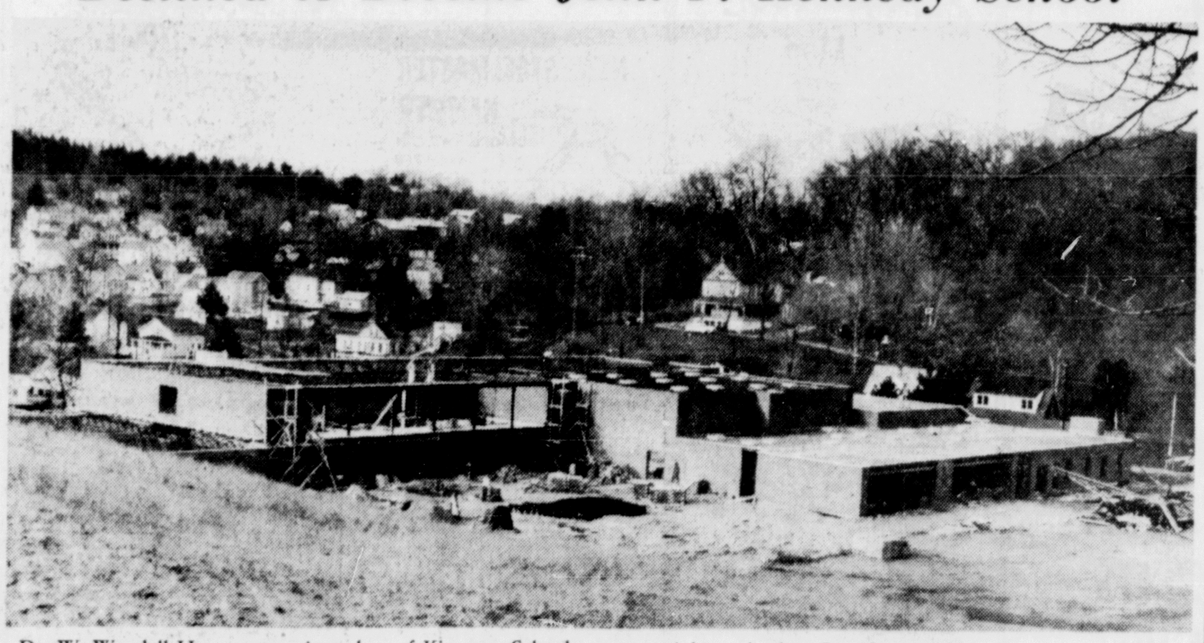

It says sanctions include publicizing unfavorable conditions, urging teachers not to apply for jobs in districts with sub-standard conditions, and, ultimately, refusal by teachers to work in those districts.

$5,200 to Start

The delegates voted to seek legislation requiring all school districts to start teachers with Bachelor Degrees at a salary of at least $5,200. The teachers would receive $300 increases annually for 10 years under the resolution.

Teachers in New York State with Bachelor Degrees currently receive a minimum of $4,500 to start, with provision for annual raises of $200 for 10 years.

Destined to Become John F. Kennedy School

Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of Kingston School District Consolidated, announced today that the Board of Educaiton has unanimously agreed to name the new 24-room school in Hasbrouck Park — the John F. Kennedy Elementary school as a memorial to the late President.

The Board of Education, which previously named the school the Hasbrouck Park Elementary School, will formally act by resolution at a meeting Thursday night, Dec. 5 at the George Washington School.

David Kline, president of the Board, said today that members were unanimous in their decision that it would be a "fitting gesture" to name the new school as a memorial to the late President.

The new school is believed to be among the early fitting memorials to the late President.

Work on the new school off Delaware Avenue is progressing ahead of schedule, according to the office of Harry Halverson, school architect. The target date for completion of the $832,505 school is Aug. 1, 1964.

The new school will replace Schools 3 and 4 and it will enable transfer of a large number of pupils from older buildings now in use in the district. The school will include a two-station gymnasium, auditorium, stage and library.

The two-story classroom section of the school will be of all-glass wall in front, with the rest of the section of brick and block construction.

William E. Forrest Inc., of Poughkeepsie, is the general contractor.

Troopers Take Hard Look At Governor Guard System

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The men charged with protecting Gov. Rockefeller from harm are taking a hard look at their security measures as a result of the assassination of President Kennedy.

A Rockefeller aide acknowledged Tuesday that "security is being reviewed."

And two-high-ranking officials of the State Police, who provide bodyguards for the governor, said they had been receiving protective arrangements.

Deputy Supt. William Kerwan observed, however, that the State Police do not have a legal mandate to protect the governor but must proceed according to his wishes.

Rockefeller's press secretary, Robert L. McManus, discouraged speculation that there would be any increase in the guard on the governor.

"You can say he will have the same arrangement," McManus said.

Other sources said privately, however, that additional steps were being contemplated.

At present, Rockefeller usually has at least one bodyguard standing close to him during his public appearances. But he does not hesitate to venture out without protection.

State Police are reluctant to discuss details of security arrangements on the theory that the less known, the better.

Troopers stationed at the Executive Chamber in the State Capitol during offfice hours are under the command of Capt. Galvin, who also served as a security officer for former governors Thomas E. Dewey and W. Averell Harriman.

Charges Against 4 of 6 Dismissed in Gun Spree

Four charges against four of six young men held after a reported Nov. 17 shotgun spree in the city were all dismissed today in city court today, but two of them are to appear early next month on charges.

Two charges of disorderly conduct, one of discharging a firearm in the city and one of killing an animal (a Collie dog in the uptown area) were dismissed against the four.

They are: Ronald Riggins, 21, of Codwise Street, Sunset Park; Jay Stanley, 23, of 1 Cottage Row; Terry Curtis, 24, of 23 West Pierpont Street, and John Dunn, 22, of 4 Tietjen Avenue.

Still facing charges are Thomas Ashdown, 20, of 537 Albany Avenue Extension, and Uhland Kaschel, 23, of 286 East Chester Street.

Dismissal of charges against the others was based generally on insufficient evidence or proof that they had been actually involved.

Police said the six rode in two cars. They reported that shots had been fired in various areas of the city and that at least one traffic light and a street light had been shattered and that the Collie dog owned by Burton Shoemaker, of 20 Dunneman

Ordered to Mental Hospital in Slaying

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A man accused of slaying a night watchman and judged to be in "a state of idiocy or imbecility" has been ordered committed to an institution for mental defectives.

Two psychiatrists who examined Robert J. Luedecke, 33, said he was unable to understand the first-degree murder charge against him.

They reported that Luedecke, "although sane. . .is in . . .a state of idiocy or imbecility."

Judge Harry L. Rosenthal of Monroe County court, acting on the psychiatrists' recommendation, ruled Tuesday that Luedecke be sent to Eastern Correctional Institutional at Napanoch.

Luedecke, of Rochester, allegedly hit Harry D. Antes, 63, over the head with a crowbar Dec. 16 after the night-watchman found him trying to open a safe at the Canada Dry Corp. plant here.

In Europe's View

Johnson Is Unknown Hand on West's Helm

BY TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON — (NEA) — European political leaders are frantically racking their brains for impressions of President Johnson, but the tragic fact is that he is virtually unknown here and on the Continent.

Many Europeans have met Johnson during his extensive travels and have been won by his southern charm, but few take American vice presidents seriously. There is no European equivalent for them, no assistant prime minister of Britain nor vice president of France as next in line of succession to Sir Alec Douglas- Home or Charles de Gaulle.

Meanwhile, newspaper files are being combed for facts about Johnson; his speeches are being scrutinized in London, Paris and Bonn, and attitudes are being formed on the basis of available information.

One Briton I talked to described President Johnson as "a dark horse galloping off into the great unknown on a moonless night."

This pessimism is not typical. On a deeper level, however, European confidence in America as the leader of the free world is severely shaken by the Kennedy assassination.

Politically, it could not have happened at a worse time.

Two of America's Atlantic partners—Britain and Germany—have just changed their leaders. Neither Douglas-Home nor Chancellor Ludwig Edhard has had time to play himself into office properly. In Italy, the government is shaky and the left recently has made significant gains. The Common Market is having teething trouble and Europe is far from being united, either politically or economically.

To make matters worse, Britain faces a general election in less than one year, with Douglas Home leading a Conservative party whose fortunes are waning.

The Tory government built its platform on recognition of the United States as the free world leader. Now that this concept has been dealt a rude blow by Kennedy's death, British voters may turn toward the neutralist policy advocated by the Labor Party.

De Gaulle would appear to be the only political leader this side of the Iron Curtain who stands to gain from the presidential change-over, at least from the short-term viewpoint.

De Gaulle had adopted a patronizing attitude toward Kennedy, treating him as a jumped-up leader who had yet to learn his trade. By inference, De Gaulle regarded America as being too young and too immature to assume free world leadership.

De Gaulle may now claim that he has been justified by events.

In particular, the French president is hoping that Europe will turn to him for advice in the present crisis as it would to a patriarch. He certainly has the seniority to back up his hopes.

The truth, as seen by leveler heads, is that Europe offers no real alternative to American leadership. The Atlantic partners will just have to be patient while President Johnson gets his bearings.

Blind trust in American leadership has evaporated and it may be a long time coming back.

The optimistic ones here hope that Kennedy's death will not result in a long interregnum during which the initiative in world affairs will pass to the Russians.

That, in their opinion, would be the real tragedy.

Serve Them Hot

If you bake a quick coffee cake in an oven-proof glass round or square dish, you can bring the cake straight to the table and cut and lift out the servings there. Coffee cakes should be served hot so this has an advantage. Use a pie knife for removing the individual portions.

At Room Temperature

An hour before you make that cake, take the eggs and milk out of the refrigerator, if butter or margarine is to be used in it instead of shortennig, it should be allowed to come to room temperature along with the eggs and milk.

MOST AMERICAN

The very name Thanksgiving conjures up an image of a table heaped with an abundanec of different foods. One can almost taste the dark, rich turkey gravy and breathe the smell of steaming hot chestnuts.

This is as it should be, for Thanksgiving is the day to remember the special blessings we as Americans enjoy, and surely one of them has always been a plentitude of food. In this respect, Thanksgiving is the most American of our holidays.

For chances are that most tables across the nation are set almost exclusively with foods that were known to the Indians long before the white man came and which they taught settlers to use.

They range from the traditional turkey, potatoes (white or yellow), different kinds of beans, cranberries, squash, pumpkin and corn right through to the after-dinner tobacco.

Other grown-in-American foods are tapioca, chocolate, pineapple, avocado, peppers and various nuts.

To be really authentic, our menus should include these dishes which the Pilgrims also enjoyed: pigeons, partridges, venison, fish, clams and oysters. Our turkeys should be wild, and stuffed with beechnuts.

Speaking of the noble bird, our domestic store-bought fowl are not descendants of the Pilgrims' bird but are immigrants from Europe of a stock which was developed by the Aztecs and was carried over from Mexico by the Spaniards. So the turkey is doubly American.

It originally got its name from confusing it with the guinea cock, a bird that was raised in Turkey. (In Turkey, the turkey is known as "the American bird."

There is probably one further similarity between a modern Thanksgiving and that of the Pilgrims: Undoubtedly more than one of the partakers of the first feast staggered away from the groaning board absolutely convinced that he would never want to eat another morsle in his life.

This, while his good wife sat with head on hand contemplating a monumental clean-up job and what to do with the leftovers.

PREMIUM ON MISPRINTS

At the modest risk of offending stamp collectors whose sense of humor is in short supply, we rise to ask: What's so special about a stamp that embodies a printing error? What is special enough about such a stamp, anyway to cause a man to turn loose of a bunch of folding money for the privilege of having it around?

This tantalizing query is prompted by the news that a batch of 50 United Nations postage stamps bought for two dollars has just been sold to a wholesale stamp company for more than $10,000. This, we submit, is a bit of a markup. And that's not all: the wholesaler will sell the stamps to dealers and is suggesting that they be resold to collectors for $390 apiece. Considering that they originally went for four cents each, this seems like quite a margin for overhead and all that.

What makes these stamps so valuable, it appears, is that the "housing and community facilities" commemorative inscription is missing—not to mention the black shading on the buildings depicted. All this for a measly $390!

Sour grapes, of course. In the newspaper business, the only thing misprints fetch is a demand for prompt correction.

TOO MUCH PROOF

William Willis has proved something by voyaging solo across the Pacific, but just what it is may be questioned. It will be recalled that this 70-year-old New Yorker, accompanied by two cats, has piloted a raft from Peru to Samoa and has thus covered about two-thirds of the distance to Australia, his goal.

Just why a man of this age — or any age—would risk such an adventure is the puzzle. A man might do it because, like Everest, the Pacific "is there." Or he might have a scientific purpose in mind, a la Kon Tiki. Willis seems not to have had any such impulse or purpose.

What he says is that he has undertaken this monumental voyage to prove that so-called senior citizens need not resign themselves to the rocking chair. He says they should not be forced to retire on pensions at 65. Which may be true. But a hazardous 12,000-mile raft trip seems to over-prove the point. Willis could just have hiked across the country, say, or swum from Cape Cod to Cape Hatteras.

A STRONG OLD PRO AT THE HELM

This is a Thanksgiving season that is something of a mockery of the name. But one thing we can be thankful for: in Lyndon B. Johnson we have an Old Pro with the gift for a steadying hand at the head of a nation that was taken by horrifying surprise when the assassin's bullet hit John F. Kennedy. Johnson was once the master of the U. S. Senate, and the Senate has always been something to master.

Although I never could deny the charm of Kennedy's personality (it worked even on those who were most dubious of his ideas), I could have been called a "Johnson man" back in 1960 when I was busy with a commission to write magazine profiles of the five most likely Democratic candidates for President. During the past three years it was hard to know precisely what Johnson was doing, so out of sight does a Vice President sink. But the impression of a strong Old Pro has always persisted. Surely a man of Johnson's capacities, which were manifested through a long life in politics of the most taxing kind, cannot have been softened by a relatively short period spent in a largely ceremonial office.

Looking over that 1960 profile of Johnson that I spent a month in doing, I find myself vastly hopeful for the safety of the United States in a world that is menaced, as usual, by the Communists. Let me quote myself, as of the July 2, 1960, issue of William Buckley's "National Review." After listing what appeared to me to be Lyndon's "drawbacks," such as falling between two stools on a number of domestic issues, I wrote:

"Against all these drawbacks one compensating factor looms like the Jungfrau: Lyndon Johnson is a man, not an extension of an IBM machine."

He was a man to command respect when he said, in Reno, Nevada:

"I am not prepared to apologize to Mr. Khrushchev. Are you? I am not prepared to send regrets to Mr. Khrushchev. Are you? This was Johnson's response to Khrushchev's pose of outraged innocence which came hard on the heels of the U-2 incident. Alone among the Democratic candidates for President at the time, Johnson had warned Khrushchev that he had better stop "being sanctimonious" in "making pious protestations" of innocence when it came to spying.

In 1960 Johnson seemed to me as much of a westerner as he was a southerner, though Kennedy put him on the ticket to save the South. He was a man who stood "a very small distance left of center." "Conservatives," I said, "who hope to rid America of the handout philosophy shouldn't expect too much of him. But conservatives have less to fear, domestically, from Johnson than from any of the other Democratic candidates."

The appealing thing about the man, as it seemed in the pre-convention weeks of 1960, was that "whenever there has been a crisis Johnson has instinctively recognized that the only possible way of remaining free in the same world with Soviet Russia is to refuse accommodation to Communist purposes. In the days before the French abdication in Indo-China Johnson lined up initially with Nixon on the desirability of fighting for Dienbienphu . . . In 1955 he supported the Dulles policy on Quemoy and Matsu. He has opposed the attempt of Communist China to buy her way into the United Nations; he has refused to sanction aid to Nasser as long as the Suez Canal is closed to ships which touch at Israeli ports; he has been for a greater reliance on private investment in bringing aid to underdeveloped regions; he is for channelling military aid through the Defense Department . . . he didn't like the Khrushchev visit to the U. S.; and he has announced himself to be no great friend of Summitry, though he favors keeping lines of negotiation open."

That is how Johnson seemed to me in 1960, before he more or less vanished from public view in the innocuous office of the Vice Presidency. If he still stands where he used to stand, he will be a man for our time.

Cautious Eye Kept on Terror of Pneumonia

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pneumonia has been robbed of much of its terror, thanks to the new wonder drugs. It used to be fatal in over 25 per cent of its victims.

In pneumonia, the disease germs or viruses in the lungs cause an outpouring of serum into the air sacs. The serum clots, and the involved segment of the lung is unable to function properly. Pneumonia is usually a complication of a persistent cold, influenza or other pulmonary infection, but it may also occur after exposure to a high concentration of an irritating gas. The onset is sudden and is attended by a high fever.

If the victim is not treated promptly, even though he recovers, he may be left with a serious complication such as pleurisy, an inflamation of the outer lining of the lung; empyema, a collection of pus in the space between the lungs and the chest wall; or the infection may get into the blood stream and damage the heart valves, the kidneys, the joints, the middle ear or the brain.

Because a variety of germs and viruses may cause pneumonia, it is important for your doctor to identify the exact culprit, because the sulfa drug or antibiotic that cures one infection often will not cure another.

Pneumonia takes its highest toll among the very young, the very old, and the debilitated, especially chronic alcoholics. Coal miners and others who work in a very dusty atmosphere are susceptible to this disease. Unlike measles, an attack of pneumonia gives no immunity, and many persons have lived through several attacks. This may be because, like the common cold, different attacks are probably caused by different organisms.

Early diagnosis and treatment saves lives. If your doctor thinks you should be in a hospital, don't argue. Hospitals are equipped to take care of emergencies and complications as they arise and, if they don't arise, your chances for a speedy recovery will be enhanced by treatment in a hospital. Don't discontinue taking the medicine prescribed until your doctor tells you to. Stopping too soon has caused many a relapse.

Remember that the advances in medical treatment do not depend alone on drugs and doctors, they depend on your co-operation as well.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — With the announcement that Maine Sen. Margaret Chase Smith is considering a try for the Republican presidential nomination, songwriter Gladys Shelley brought out a ditty already written for the occasion.

Titled "Leave It to the Girls," the Shelley number has been recorded on the Spiral Record Label:

"Leave it to the girls!
Where there's a frill
And a powder puff,
There's greater skill.
Leave it to the chicks!
They've got a million magic tricks.
To change the course of history.
Their know-how is a mystery.
But leave it to the girls!
They're heaven-sent —
It could be that our next president
Will wear perfume and pearls,
Be diplomatic in pin curls —
For love and glory leave it to the girls!"

WHEN A ROOF FIRE at RAF Station Fairford, a SAC base in England, was attributed to a bird carrying a lighted cigarette to its nest under the eaves, firemen filed this report on corrective action taken:

"A program of removing all birds' nests from buildings throughout the base has been implemented. Personnel will be cautioned on the danger of discarding lighted cigarettes.

"Also, the birds will be counseled in accordance with SAC Regulation 92-6 against smoking in bed."

MRS. ELLY M. Peterson, newly appointed executive director of the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, lost no time in urging party members of the gentler sex to greater efforts in '64. Pointing out that 22½ million American women failed to vote in 1960, she told a New Hampshire audience:

"Some people are like thermometers — merely registering the climate as too hot or too cold. But others are like thermostats — noting that something is wrong and immediately doing something about it."

POSTMASTER General John Gronouski, replying to questions at the National Press Club, was asked:

"Whose idea was the Zip Code?"

Gronouski responded:

"I asked that when I came to Washington. So far I've found 86 authors."

URBAN RENEWAL Administration Commissioner William L. Slayton has a favorite line he uses when first approached by city reprsentatives who want to renovate their business districts.

"What kind of a downtown do you want?" Slayton asks. "I'm like the saleslady in a millinery shop who says to a young woman customer: 'What does madame wish? Something tasteful to impress men, something stylish to impress women, or something inexpensive to impress your husband?' "

HAWAII HAS LONG been noted for its muumuu (pronounced "moomoo") costume — the long, light and comfortable sack-like dress worn at luaus.

But, according to Rep. Thomas Gill, D-Hawaii, the term now has political significance. "A muumuu speech," says Gill, "is vague, political bombast that covers everything but reveals very little."

Some Answers That Seem Logical for LBJ Future

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Questions are being asked by people on every side here and abroad as to what the effect will be on public policy as a consequence of the change of administration: What kind of President will Lyndon Johnson make? What policies of the Kennedy administration will he maintain or alter or abandon? What will be the effect in the field of foreign policy and on the attitude of governments abroad toward the United States? What becomes of the Republican case and the contest for the nomination, especially as it affects Messrs. Goldwater, Rockefeller and Nixon? What will be the impact on American business and on chances for a recession or a boom?

The asking of these questions is evidence of the complete involvement of American policy in the life of a single leader. Here are some answers that seem logical:

1. National Politics: President Johnson will follow the practice of those Presidents who have come into the office during a term for which a deceased predecessor had been elected. The new President always feels committed to carry on existing policies and to retain the cabinet. Modifications will come as changing circumstances may require. But Mr. Johnson's campaign for the nomination must be made in the next eight months before the Democratic national convention meets and must inevitably be based on a championing of Kennedy policies and principles at home and abroad. Mr. Johnson will doubtless be nominated and stands a good chance of being elected.

2. Foreign Policy: It will not change perceptibly. The same advisors and personnel who counseled Mr. Kennedy will, in the main, be at President Johnson's side. There may be some changes in the formula of negotiations—perhaps a greater reliance on the diplomats than on personal meetings with foreign potentates. Such conferences may become more of the ceremonial kind than of the "negotiating" pattern.

3. Domestic Legislation: The Kennedy program of tax reduction and civil rights will be enacted with the same modifications that would have been legislated if Mr. Kennedy had lived. A bipartisan coalition in Congress still rules the day. The deceased President would have been compelled to compromise. Lyndon Johnson will compromise and will make it seem like a victory. He has been and will be a skillful negotiator inside both parties in Congress.

4. World Peace: President Johnson knows he will have a united country behind him and that American policy, in its broad aspects, has universal approval. The question of whether peace efforts can be effective depends now, as before, on the Communist regime in the Kremlin, about which Mr. Johnson has no illusions.

5. Republican Party Problems: Overnight a change has come. The anti-Kennedy drive now will have to become an impersonal criticism of policies, rather than of the man, if a constructive issue is to be developed by Republicans. The voters will not be inclined to blame President Johnson for any mistakes of his predecessor.

Democrats, on the other hand, will naturally take credit for recognized achievements of the Administration during the preceding three years or more. The Republicans have only one course to pursue—the exposition of a non-racial philosophy which reflects the convictions of the rank and file of Republicans, as distinguished from the "me-too-ism" of many so-called liberal Republicans.

The Goldwater boom has been based largely on the anti-Kennedy sentiment and on a drive for conservative policies. The Arizona Senator is still in the lead, and the only other candidate with a chance to get the Republican nomination is Richard Nixon. The former Vice-President now will have in his favor the argument that he knows as much about the Presidency as—if not, more than—Lyndon Johnson, who has served as Vice-President two years and ten months, while Mr. Nixon held that office eight years. Gen Eisenhower's influence in behalf of his former Vice President may be considerable, as the distinguished General is still a powerful voice in his party. It's an even bet as between Goldwater and Nixon today.

6. Effect on Business: The momentum of the last several months will continue into the first half of 1964 anyway and perhaps longer, because business men feel that Lyndon Johnson is at heart friendly to the existing system of free enterprise and, in that sense, is not a "New Frontiersman."

President Johnson will not only study carefully the trends in business but will be motivated by a desire to encourage a stable economic situation. He will listen to the views of his Democratic brethren in Congress who know that business cannot prosper in America if any group controls the government—the monopolists who would choke off competition or the labor-union leaders who would unrealistically demand wage increases that force price increases when the national economy cannot readily absorb such changes.

Lyndon Johnson, like his predecessor, is a conscientious man who will seek to serve his country. But the new President has had a great deal more experience with the legislative process and has today a better perception of the difference between the possible and the impossible in Congress than any man who has held the office of President in this century.

MIAMI, Florida — Three hundred thousand Cubans are off the island. Many are here. Some are in New York. A few are in San Diego and San Antonio. Others are scattered among the Bahamas, Mexico and Santo Domingo. The luckiest is Senor Jose Coronas who stayed too long, was arrested, and lived to get out of the Bullet Box—Cabanas Prison.

Coronas is built like a mahogany timber. He was mayor of Manzanillo when Cuba traded despotism for despotism. Manzanillo sits on the edge of the Caribbean on the south side of Cuba, nearer to Guantanamo than Havana. It has 150,000 people and they liked the square-built, smiling Coronas well enough to elect him as Representante del Congresso Cubano in 1940, and they made him mayor on January 3rd, 1953.

There were four political parties then: Progressista, Democrita, Union Radical y Partido Liberal—but what's the use? They were all controlled by Fulgencio Batista, the little Army sergeant who lived in Coquine and had 35 white double-breasted jackets. They all voted for him, when he permitted them to vote. They all turned their heads when Batista's police maimed prisoners in the meanest manner.

Jose Coronas was a Batista man. He admits it today. Anyone who was not for Batista was either not a Cuban or was an idiot in the hills. A man named Castro was an idiot in the hills. Jose Coronas was aware of him. The Castro family and the Coronas both came from Oriente province. The mayor also knew that Castro never fought a battle (he staged night raids; kidnapped people; and issued pronounciamentos about freedom and democracy) and never joined his barbudos when shots were fired.

Coronas was not rich. He had a small Sinca car; a bungalow in the hills; rented a house at Callisto Garcia 26; got $400 a month pay, plus $200 a month expenses. That was it. His daughter, Milangros, 18, was in Villanueva University in Havana. His son Jose, 16, studied at Belen College in Havana. The mayor paid for their tuition, ran his car, paid $40 a month rent, and $35 a month for a housekeeper. He was doing well. Then the roof fell in.

The mayor was in Havana for Christmas 1958 with his children and his wife. His term of office would end in one week—Jan. 3, 1959. On New Year's Eve, Coronas took the family out to the Tropicana. He celebrated so well that he got back to his sister's apartment at 4 a. m. At seven, a friend knocked on the door. "Hey" a voice said, "Batista left!"

The mayor was 50. He had three days to go in office. He was entitled to a small pension. He had been a good mayor, a good congressman. What did he have to fear? Nothing. But he was afraid. He never went home to Manzanillo. He hid in Havana, asking himself what he had ever done wrong.

Six week's later, Castro's Secret Police picked him up. They took him to the 16th police station. "You are the alcalde of Manzanillo?" they said. "That is enough. You will be tried." They tossed him into a cell. Six hours later, a bargudos captain called "The Dominican" looked into the cell and said: " I phoned your city. They have no charges against you." The captain seemed to be surprised. "I am going to let you go."

Jose Coronas began to breathe. Not deeply. Just a little. He hid in a small apartment. Three days later he was on a bus, sitting in the back, looking inconspicuous. A Castro policeman got on. "You are Coronas? Come with me." This time he was thrown into dreaded Cabanas Prison. He was one of 70 men in a room built for 20.

Every hour a guard would come and call out a few names. The men would step forward, heads down, and be led off. The riffle fire always occurred at 3:30 a. m. or 4. The men in Room 14 became fewer and fewer. After three days, the guard appeared at 3 a. m. "Senor Jose Coronas!" he yelled. The mayor stepped forward. This, he knew, was the end.

"Go to the office of the commandant," the guard said. "I think you are free." It couldn't be, of course. The mayor knew this. The Castro forces were shooting all Batista officials. He dragged his feet to the office. The commandant studied the square block of wood. Without comment, he tossed a paper at the mayor. It read: "This will identify Jose Coronas. The revolutionary government has no charge against him."

All the wise Cubans had already fled the island. The mayor clutched his little piece of paper and did not believe in it. He went out into the dawn and sold his Sinca to keep his wife and children alive. Castro, he knew, would get the mouse sooner or later.

So Coronas took an old passport, listing him as mayor, and erased that word. He changed it to teacher. Then he appeared before a Castro council and asked permission to leave the country. They studied his passport and stamped it okay. The mayor went home. Two hours later, a man was at the door.

"I am of the council," he said. "I saw that you changed a word." Coronas gave him 200 pesos. The man left. Jose got on a Pan-American plane and watched the Secret Police go through it. He read a newspaper. The door closed. The plane took off. Coronas wept.

Today he works in the kitchen of the Diplomat Hotel in Hollywood. He has been promoted three times. His daughter is an assistant dietitian in Miami. His son is a waiter and a student at the University of Miami.

Jose Coronas must have been a pretty good mayor . . .

93 PC of Sets in New York Area Were On for JFK Rites

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It will be days before the national figures are compiled, but the most authoritative rating service estimates that in the metropolitan New York area, a massive 93 per cent of television-equipped homes were using their sets to watch the funeral services for President John F. Kennedy.

A spokesman for the A. C. Nielsen Co. said that if the New York figure proves to be typical of the whole nation, "more people were watching television on Monday than at any other time in the history of the medium."

During the period between Friday and Monday, Nielsen estimates, the average New York television set was in use for a total of 34 hours, more than twice the normal number.

On Sunday morning, normally a light viewing period, an extraordinary number of sets were in use—about 42 per cent. But after the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas, the figure zoomed to a fantastic 777 per cent by 1 p.m.

Tuesday morning, things got back to normal. Commercials came back. Programs began and ended precisely on the hour and the half hour. Game show hosts on taped shows made jokes and laughed heartily at them. The soap opera characters resumed their tangled lives.

Mr. Novak's problems Tuesday night with a diffficult student were really quite relaxing because you knew he'd come out of it all right.

Red Skelton's and Martha Raye's antics in a ridiculous Wild West sketch were mildly amusing, but it was good to laugh a little.

"CBS Reports'" postponed a program about motion pictures "Flight from Hollywood" which was scheduled for tonight and put together a timely hour in which three presidents discuss the presidency.

Harry S. Trumans remarks were made five years ago in a television interview with Edward R. Murrow. Dwight D. Eisenhower's were taken from his on-camera conversations with Walter Cronkite two seasons ago.

John F. Kennedy's contribution was made during a three-network interview in the White House almost a year ago.

ABC's Sunday afternoon "Issues and Answers" guest will be Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt. Sen. Barry Goldwater, scheduled to occupy the guest chair, canceled after his decision over the weekend to avoid political talk until after December.

Lawrence Welk will be missing from his Saturday night show this week. The ABC star underwent minor surgery and the boys in the band will take over his chores for the evening.

Recommended tonight "CBS Reports," 7:30-8:30 EST—"Three Presidents on the Presidency."

Trumansburg Phone Rates to Be Increased

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The Public Service Commission approved today a schedule of increased rates for business subscribers of the Trumansburg Home Telephone Co.

The new rates involve increases of from 70 cents to $4.50 a month, and will be identical with business rates charged by the New York Telephone Co. in Ithaca.

At the same time, the PSC said existing residential rates—which are from 14 to 45 cents higher per month than Ithaca rates — will be continued.

Toll-free service was initiated between the Trumansburg and Ithaca exchanges Nov. 10.

Electric Rate Cut For 2,400 Customers

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The Public Service Commmission approved today a plan under which Pennsylvania Electric Co. will reduce rates to most of its 2,400 New York State customers by about $51,000 a year.

The new rate schedule takes effect Dec. 3.

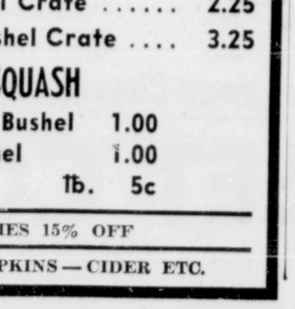

The company serves Waverly and part of the Town of Barton, Tioga County.

The PSC said the reductions range from $1.11 to $4.96 monthly depending upon the amount of electricity used.

The PSC announcement did not indicate the reason for the rate reductions.

Rulings Are Made By PSC on Buses Running Upstate

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission today approved proposals affecting bus transportation in the Elmira and Utica areas.

The commission authorized the Mekos Charter Service to operate bus service temporarily within Elmira and surrounding communities.

At the same time, the PSC authorized Western New York Motor Lines Inc., of Batavia, to discontinue service on the routes to be handled by the Mekos firm.

Western New York complained of a shortage in manpower and told the PSC it might have to curtail or eliminate service soon in the Elmira area.

Mekos said it would continue on the same schedule and at the same fares set by Western New York. The firm has filed a petition to acquire permanent operating rights in the area.

The routes involved are within Elmira and fan out to Horseheads, Elmira Heights and Southport, all in Chemung County.

In another ruling, the commission approved a proposal by Central New York Coach Lines Inc., of Utica, to establish lower joint fares with Utica Transit Corp. for suburban school pupils.

The new tariff is effective Nov. 29. It will reduce transportation costs of the pupils affected by about 42 per cent.

Under present tariffs, pupils riding Central buses between Utica and either Canastota or Little Falls must pay fares to Central and, in Utica, transfer to Utica Transit buses, paying an additional fare.

Road Would Cut Out Albany Montreal Run

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The Delaware & Hudson Railroad wants to discontinue The Laurentian day train service between Albany and Montreal, effective Jan. 6.

A railroad spokesman said Tuesday that continuance of two-way service would "'threaten the railroad's economic health."

He said the line lost $217,174 in one year because patronage fell off.

"The public has deserted the railroad," he said.

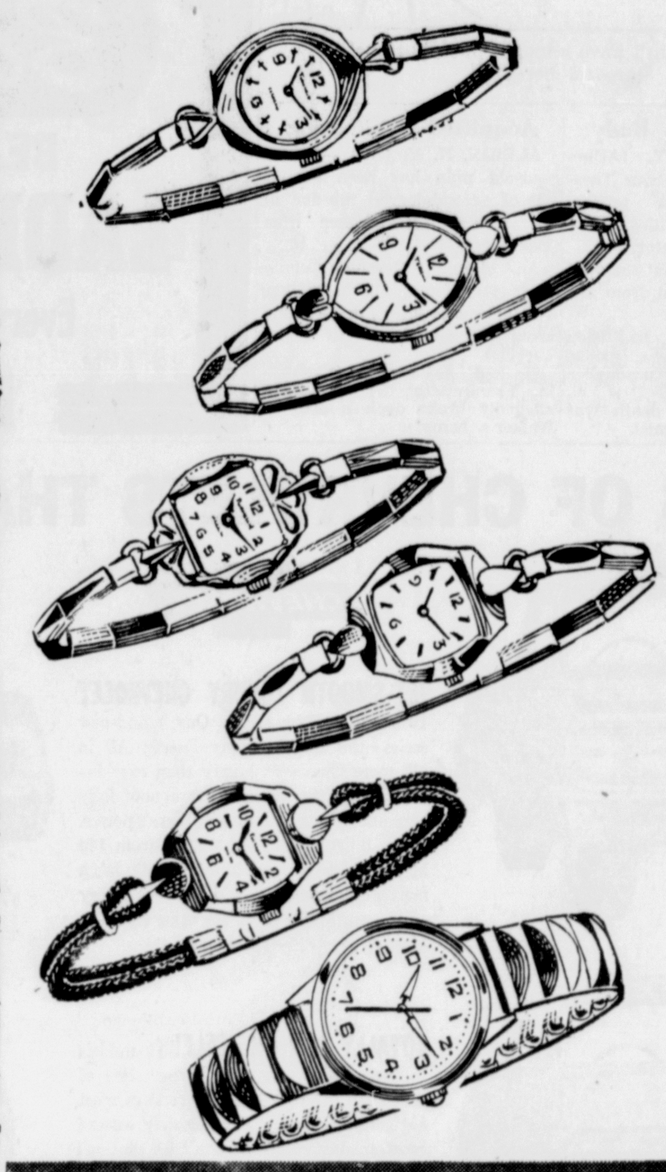

Discontinuance of the Laurentian would leave only one passenger train — the Montreal Limited — operating between New York and Montreal. The train operates on a nighttime schedule. It is run jointly by D&H and the New York Central Railroad.

Eisenhower Owed Thanks To Johnson for Great Push

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Presss News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Dwight D. Eisenhower's record with Congress looked good at all—in getting things done and programs through—he owed a lot of thanks to Lyndon B. Johnson, the new President.

For six of Eisenhower's eight White House years the Democrats ran Congress and Johnson, a man of tremendous drive, ran the Senate. This tall Texan was the most effective Senate leader in the century, probably in history.

It was not the result of personality. He lacked the immediate charm of President John F. Kennedy. He was not a distinguished speaker. But he did his homework and did it prodigiously.

Because he is that kind of man, he will work enormously at the presidency. Any mistakes will be mistakes of judgment. They won't come from lack of trying.

He was a master of detail. He knew where every senator stood on every issue and, before voting time where every senator was or was going to be. He befriended all of them when he could and thus was able to expect their support when he needed it.

His egotism, and he has a lot of it, didn't stand in the way of his accomplishment. Because the egotism is a natural part of him, he carries it into the White House with him.

Just because of his egotism—because it makes success necessary for him—he will be hard-driven to succeed. When he is in charge, there is never any doubt who is boss. He showed this in the Senate.

While it was resented by some of his fellow-Democrats—particularly the liberals—it was one of the keys to his effectiveness. He can't leave this part of his nature behind him at the White House door, either.

Johnson, sensitive to criticism will now, like any other president, get a lot of it. His Senate years prepared him for it, although he may not take it lying down.

Johnson proved himself a master of politics and of handling men in his Senate years. But handling foreign affairs has been outside his experience. He faces here a new challenge in which to prove himself.

Of all the leadership arts he used in the Senate—a place full of prima donnas with strong feelings on many issues—the one Johnson used most visibly was compromise, like grease to get a bill through warring factions.

His technique was to get both sides to make some concessions, even though both sides were less than pleased with the result. For example: It happened once in a struggle between Southern Democrats and Northern liberals.

At the end the captain of the Southerners, Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., said it was a sad day. The captain of the liberals, Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., called it a victory for the South.

But it was Johnson—and no one but Johnson could have done it—who steered through the Senate the first two civil rights bills since Reconstruction days in the 19th century. They weren't much, but they opened the door to stronger measures later.

Kennedy this year wanted a stronger one. Johnson supported him. Since he is no longer in the Senate, one of the first big steps of his presidency will come on the civil rights issue.

Two Phone Firms Are Allowed to MakeTollChanges

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The Public Service Commission today authorized the Oneida County Rural Telephone Co. and the New York Telephone Co. to introduce toll-free calling between Holland Patent and the Rome and Utica exchanges.

The new system will begin operation Dec. 1.

The Holland Patent exchange of the Oneida County firm serves about 1,200 stations. The expansion will increase the local calling area of the Holland Patent exchange to about 111,000 stations.

The change will increase basic monthly rates to Holland Patent subscribers by about $15,000 a year. This will be offset, however, by elimination of the 15-cent tolls for calls between the exchanges.

New York Telephone estimates the change will yield a net annual saving of about $20,100 to subscribers of the three exchanges.

The new monthly rates to Holland Patent subscribers will be:

Residential service — individual line, $5.50; two-party, $4.50; four-party and multi-party, rural, $3.85; extensions, $1.00.

Business service — individual line, $15.25; two-party, $11; multi-party, $5.95; extensions, $1.70.

Present rates will continue for subscribers of the New York Telephone Co. exchanges at Utica and Rome.

She was among 10 young people arrested Oct. 4 in a roundup Thaler said resulted from a probe of illegal drug traffic.

The cause of his death was not immediately learned.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Sometime ago Warren Johnson, the Sunday noon Port Ewen radio commentator loaned me a book called "44th annual report of the State Superintendent of New York State for school year ending July 31, 1897." I just want to look through it once more before returning it. I was told the other day Mr. Johnson on his local radio station spoke about the drinking water of Port Ewen. It seems he has a good old-fashioned well at his place, which in spite of the dry spell gives him all the water he needs. He was somewhere in Port Ewen and wanted to take a drink of Port Ewen water, tasting it, he remarked something to the effect, "Now I know why the wash in Port Ewen is so white." Perhaps we too in Kingston, do not need any bleach in laundry water, as there seems to be enough coming out of the faucet. Why don't they teach us these things on TV, all they want to do is sell us all sorts of bleach and detergents. I still see folks enjoying the spring water in Wilbur, coming there with cars, to get jugs full to take home. If bleach eats up our clothes, I wonder what it does to our insides.

This book of 1897, goes back in its coverage of the school system to 1850. In 1887, for instance, the average annual salary for each teacher in a city was $687.12, in a town $262.44. No doubt it was considered a good salary. No doubt boat trips to Europe were also very reasonable, as even then teachers took trips to Europe and the Orient. Traveling was always considered educational.

A reader from 132 Green Street sent me some interesting old penny postal cards. One of the Stuyvesant Hotel, (published by J. Ruben, of Newburgh.) This shows the handsome front entrance, and balcony, and columns. The awnings are blue and white. I always admired the Stuyvesant Hotel built to so well fill in that corner of an unbroken line. The other picture is of the old but not forgotten Eagle Hotel, where now a very large hole is being dug, one of my readers referred to, as the coming million and half dollars Fort Knox hole of Kingston. The Eagle Hotel had a long porch, which went from about 16 to 32 Main Street and touched the sidewalk. They had substantial buildings on both sides. This maybe around 1915 according to the automobiles shown. This was published by the Kingston souvenier Co. of Kingston, New York.

There is a summer trolley in front of the old Eagle Hotel. In back of the hotel they kept horses, and I remember in the parking lot days, I saw the iron rings on the brick wall to which they were tied. I wonder if any of those rings were saved during the demolition.

Edward Fraleigh ran the livery stable at 16 Main Street. I understand he was a tall man. He lived at 104 Main Street at which address is also listed, Gladys, a stenographer. Hazel, and also Kathryn D. a milliner. No doubt old timers remember this livery stable. Now at that place will rise a six story glass and metal county office building which will cost the taxpayers some million and a half.

A reader showed me the Poughkeepsie Journal, page 11, of Nov. 3, 1963, of a similar building, of eight stories in the Town of Poughkeepsie to be built by Davies Bros. Corp., at a cost of one million dollars. The architect for the Poughkeepsie eight story office building is Paul Canin of that city.

School Principal to Be Host At Westchester Game Dinner

By JANE F. BONNEVILLE
White Plains Reporter-Dispatch
Written for Associated Press

SOMERS, N.Y. (AP)—Once each year, the entire staff of Somers Central High School dines on such gourmet dishes as ptarmigan partridge, caribou or bear steak or grilled antelope with capers.

The host is School Principal Webster W. Keefe, who bags the game he serves.

Keefe, who has been a big-game hunter since he shot his first snowshoe rabbit near his boyhoood home at Fort Covington, established the dinner tradition 25 years ago when the Westchester County schoool had 200 pupils. His first guest list numbered 24. This year there were almost 250 — from bus-drivers to teachers, janitors to members of the board of education and spouses. The next dinner will be early in 1964.

The purpose is to establish an "esprit de corps" in the school, Keefe says.

Varied Hunting Grounds

Quebec, Maine, Newfoundland, Alaska, North Carolina, New York's Adirondacks, Vermont and Westchester have been Keefe's hunting grounds. He stores the game in large freezers at a boys' camp.

"At recent dinners," Keefe said, "we have served more than 300 pounds of meat and birds. Guests have a choice and they usually try everything. Steaks or chops are prepared for each guest; the other foods served buffet."

Last year's menu included elk, venison, antelope, caribou, Moose and bear. Plus roast Canada goose with orange sauce; breast of wild duck with currant sauce; curried quail with almonds; roast ptarmigan partridge with cherry sauce, and rock Cornish game hen with ginger sauce. For the less venturesome, there were turkey and ham.

Keefe was chef as well as host at early dinners, but as the guest list grew along with student enrollment, he enlisted school cafeteria workers. His mother, Mrs. Annetta Coe, now of Athens, Tenn., taught him to cook.

Ram Termed Choice

The lean outdoor enthusiast considers ptarmigan partridge from Alaska the rarest dish and dall ram the choicest eating.

Keefe thinks all game should be thoroughly cleaned before hanging to avoid the gamey flavor offensive to some.

Generally, he makes no use of the hides except those of the deer, which become Christmas gift gloves.

The walls of his office are adorned with the mounted heads of caribou, moose and other prizes.

Keefe, a graduate of Syracuse University and a former resident of Syracuse, began his teaching career in Conifer, on Tupper Lake in the Adirondacks.

He has a keen understanding of young hunters. When the season opens in Westchester, he gives half a day off to boys with hunting licenses and parental permission.

"They would go anyway, and this way they don't play hooky," he said.

Stuffed Frankfurters

Two cups of seasoned mashed potatoes are enough to stuff six to 8 frankfurters. Slit the franks in half lengthwise but not all the way through, then spread open and stuff with the potato. Bake in a hot oven or broil until franks are hot through and potatoes browned.

Courts to Rule on RR Dispute; Arbitration Is Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long strike-threatened railroad dispute rolled toward the courts today and a new legal tangle over an arbitration ruling permitting the elimination of thousands of firemen's jobs.

The ruling handed down Tuesday by a special panel, was ordered by Congress to forestall a nationwide strike last August and settle the key issues in the union-railroad struggle over work rules.

Two of the unions announced they will challenge the arbitration decision and its legal basis in the courts.

Exchange Blame Charges

Thus a new snarl appeared to be added to the four-year dispute, and negotiations on what Congress figured were secondary also have bogged down. Each side blamed the other for the lack of progress in the talks, which cover such matters as wages.

The arbitration board had two issues to deal with—the firemen's jobs and the size of train crews.

It ruled that the carriers can gradually eliminate as unnecessary 90 per cent of the firemen on diesel freight and yard engines—about 30,000 jobs.

Binding for Two Years

The train crew issue was turned back to the parties for further negotiations. The board, however, provided machinery for binding decisions on a local basis, supervised by the National Mediation Board, in situations where agreements can't be reached.

The arbitration award, as Congress wrote the law, would be binding for two years.

But other provisions of the law expire Feb. 25 and could lead to a new strike threat if there is no agreement on other isssues such as wages.

Union spokesman H. E. Gilberg said the railroads' proposal to "cut pay 33 1-3 per cent" by changing the wage structure is not a secondary issue to the unions.

Fear Strike Threat Renewal

Congress left wages and some proposed work rules changes to be settled by negotiations between the unions and the 195 railroads involved in the dispute.

Gilbert told J. E. Wolfe, chief railroad negotiator, he hoped Wolfe would now "get down to negotiations'" to eliminate any renewal of a strike threat.

Wolfe replied that if the unions did not cooperate in the negotiations, "we will be back where we were in August with the nation disturbed."

Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and Wolfe are members of the arbitration board.

Johnson Continues Kennedy Ideas

in this country about equal rights," he said. "We have talked for 100 years or more. Yes, it is time now to write the next chapter — and to write it in the books of law."

Calls for Forceful Bill

Johnson called upon the Congress to enact a civil rights bill that will help "eliminate from this nation every trace of discrimination and oppression based upon race or color."

He said there could be no greater source of strength to the nation both at home and abroad.

Touching upon foreign affairs, Johnson promised the United States "will keep its commitments from South Viet Nam to West Berlin." He added:

"We will be unceasing in the search for peace; resourceful in our pursuit of areas of agreement even with those with whom we differ; and generous and loyal to those who join with us in common cause."

Courage Strong

He said "those who test our courage will find it strong and those who seek our friendship will find it honorable."

In a general assertion of foreign policy, Johnson said:

"Let all the world know, and non misunderstand, that I rededicate this government to the unswerving support of the United nations — to the honorable and determined execution of our commitments to our allies —to the maintenance of military strength second to none — to the defense of the strength and stability of the dollar — to the expansion of our foreign trade — to the reenforcement of our programs of mutual assistance and cooperation in Asia and Africa — and to our Alliance For Progress in this hemisphere."

Asks Help From All

Appealing for help from all Americans in carrying out his said:

"An assassin's bullet has thrust upon me the awesome burden of the presidency. I am here today to say that I need your help; I cannot, bear this burden alone. I need the help of all Americans."

Declaring that the nation "has experienced a profound shock," Johnson said it is a national duty of this time "to do away with uncertainty and to show that we are capable of decisive action — that from the brutal loss of our leader we will derive not weakness but strength — that we can and will act and act now."

In addition to calling for top-priority action on civil rights and tax cut legislation, Johnson said action also is needed on pending education bills, the youth employment opportunities bill, the foreign aid program and the remaining appropriation bills.

Continues to Fight Poverty

"We will carry on the fight against poverty and misery, ignorance and disease — in other lands and in our own," he pledged. "We will serve all of the nation, not one section or one sector, or one group, but all Americans."

Stating his own philosophy toward government fiscal policy, Johnson said that, "in particular I pledge that the expenditures of the government will be administered with the upmost thrift and frugality."

He said the federal government "will set an example of prudence and economy" and will get "a dollar's value for a dollar spent."

Johnson also promised to always respect "the independence and integrity of the legislative branch"—something he said is "deep in the marrow of my bones" after 32 years on capitol hill as House member, senator and vice president.

Strength Is Outcome

Though Johnson called for national unity, he said this does "not depend on unanimity," adding:

"We have differences; but now, as in the past, we can derive from those differences strength, not weakness; wisdom, not despair. Both as a people and as a government we can unite upon a program which is wise, just and constructive."

From his experiences at the capitol, Johnson said he had pride and confidence in the ability of Congress to meet any crisis and to "distill from our differences strong programs of national action."

LBJ Will Give Holiday Talk Thursday Night

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will make a nationwide television address to the nation on Thanksgiving evening, the White House announced today.

The 15-minute address, scheduled for 6:15 p.m. (EST) Thursday night, "will be a Thanksgiving Day message to the people" from the new President, press secretary Pierre Salinger said.

The broadcast will be made from the President's oval office in the White House. It will be carried live on the National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System networks.

It also may be carried on the American Broadcasting Co. network if other technical problems can be worked out.

Council Won't Act On 75-Age for Catholic Bishops

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council will end its second session a week from today without taking action on a provocative proposal to make retirement at 75 mandatory for Roman Catholic bishops.

Had such a rule been in effect a few years ago, there would have been no Pope John XXIII —and probably no ecumenical council. The former cardinal patriarch of Venice was 75 in 1956, two years before the College of Cardinals elected him to succeed Pius XII.

Pope John reportedly remarked after he moved to the Vatican Palace: "Well, here I am at the end of the road and at the top of the heap." He was 81 when he died last June.

The proposal for a fixed retirement age came up during discussion by the 2,200 council fathers of a topic on bishops and diocesan government. The suggestion was among hundreds a council commission will consider when it puts together amendments to the topic during the recess that begins Dec. 4.

The Rev. Paul V. Maloney, a Boston priest who is assistant pastor of the American Catholic parish church in Rome, went through statistics on the U.S. Catholic hierarchy.

He published these figures in a parish bulletin: In the 119 dioceses and 27 archdioceses of the United States, a mandatory retirement age of 75 would remove seven archbishops and nine bishops, including one cardinal, James Francis McIntyre of Los Angeles, who is 77.

Columbia Tax Is Down 92 Cents

Columbia County will get a 92 cent reduction in its tax rate for 1964. The Columbia County board of supervisors has adopted a $3,500,860 budget following a public hearing. The new tax rate for $1,000 of assessed valuation is $18.33 compared to the 1963 tax rate of $19.75.

Estimated revenues for 1964 are $2,090,672 and to be raised by tax levy is $1,410,188.

Skyline, Other Greene Burglary Jobs Are Probed

Three burglaries in the Catskill area, which netted thieves beer, cigarets, candy, cigars and cash, were under investigation today by authorities.

State Police Senior Investigator James J. Buckley of Leeds, reported burglars forced their way into Kay's Bottling plant at Brown's Corners north of the village of Catskill, sometime during the night and made off with nine cases of beer.

The intruders smashed a glass in the front door and crawled into the plant.

Burglars also forced a cellar door and entered James McMahon's gas station at Jefferson Heights, and stole 15 cartons of cigarets and a quantity of candy and cigars, Investigator Buckley reported.

Catskill Village police reported the Skyline Restaurant near the Rip Van Winkle bridge was entered sometime Monday night or early Tuesday. About $75 in cash and a quantity of cigarets comprised the loot.

Columbia Reports Third Hepatitis, Adult Case Now

The third case of infectious hepatitis was announced this week in Columbia County by the Columbia County Department of Health. Dr. G. Paul Kenyon said the case appears not to be connected with two cases of children in St. Mary's Elementary school. The third case is that of an adult.

The commissioner suggests that anyone who has been in close contact with any of the patients within two weeks, to contact their family physician to determine if inoculation is necessary.

The number of cases in New York State is slightly lower than last year, with most of the cases being reported in the eastern section.

Authority Sells Ferrys for $7,500

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) —Two ferry boats that plied the Hudson River between Newburgh and Beacon have been sold for a total of $7,550.

The State Bridge Authority announced Tuesday that the Dutchess and Beacon were bought by the Witte Marine Equipment Co. of Hillside, N.J.

The Dutchess went for $2,600 and the Beacon for $2,100. The firm will scrap them.

Myles Rosenthal of New York City paid $2,850 for the third boat, the Orange. The Bridge Authority said it understood he planned to preserve the boat.

The ferry line went out of service early this month when the Newburgh - Beacon Bridge was opened.

Albany Avenue Building Entered, $74 Is Missing

Entrance to an Albany Avenue Extension garage building last Saturday afternoon is under investigation by County Investigator Thomas Mayone and Deputy Sheriff Ronald Dietz.

Investigator Mayone reported the building leased by Leaseway of Eastern New York on Albany Avenue near East Chester bypass, was entered sometime between 1:45 and 3 p. m. Menands Consolidated Company, a package delivery service, leases a part of the building and maintains desk space in the office.

John Brown of 48 Murphy Street, Kingston, a driver, left $74 in a cash box in a desk drawer at 1:45 p. m. At 3 p. m. when John McCabe of Menands, another truck driver arrived, he discovered the money was gone. Checks were scattered over the floor. Nothing else was reported missing. The empty box was found in a supply closet in the office.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window with a rock.

Pays Two Fines, Faces Two More MV Charges

Joseph Misasi Jr., 17, of 208 Downs Street, booked on four vehicle and traffic charges several weeks ago, paid fines on two of them in city court today and is to be dealt with as a youthful offender on two.

Fines of $10 each were paid on the charge that he drove with inadequate lights and was an unlicensed operator. He was also charged with driving an unregistered vehicle and with lacking proof of insurance.

James Acker, 23, of Route 1, Box 199, Kingston, and Douglas Freese, 18, of RD 1, Box 364, Saugerties, charged with speeding, were fined $15 each.

'Empty Place' Feeling To Mark U. S. Holiday

With heavy hearts and prayerful resolve, Americans prepare to observe Thanksgiving Day, while still mourning the death of President John F. Kennnedy.

"'Our president's death has created an empty place at every dinner table," said a New Yorker busily shopping for Thursday's dinner.

The "empty place" is surely to be more keenly felt at Hyannis Port, Mass., where the Kennedy family will gather.

Mrs. Kennnedy, the President's widow, has announced plans to fly to Hyannnis Port Thanksgiving Day with her two children.

Perhaps the nation's mood was best summmed up by the Rev. John W. Regan, a curate at St. Francis Xavier church in Hyannis Port, when he said last Sunday:

"Here in America, this Thanksgiving will be different. This year, as the Pilgrims did, we will turn again to God. We have a great deal to be thankful for—the men who fought and died for us in the hot wars and in the cold war. We should be grateful for the great men God has given us."

President Johnson has urged that the Thanksgiving proclamation issued by President Kennedy Nov. 5 be read in churches Thursday.

The proclamation said in part:

"on that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist.'"

President and Mrs. Johnson plan to have a family dinner at their home in Washington. Their daughters, Lynda Bird and Lucy will be there and so will Lynda's fiance, Bernard Rosenbach.

In Massachusetts, the traditional Pilgrim progress observance at Plymouth will pay tribute to two assassinated presidents—Kennedy in a special memorial service, and Lincoln, on the 100th anniversary of his proclamation making Thanksgiving a national holiday for the first time.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The 10-nation health insurance plan for the U.S. dollar, and other principal world currencies, stood its first real test with marked success.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York and Europe's central banks acted together and quickly to prevent any run on the dollar after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Could Shake Value

Without the agreed plan to move simultaneously into the foreign exchange markets to prevent such a run, the dollar might have been under pressure.

This is because foreigners hold so many surplus dollars, built up in recent years as a result of big deficits in our balance of payments in international trade and monetary dealings.

These dollars, if dumped on the market for gold or other currencies, could have shaken the value of the dollar — the world's chief monetary reserve as a supplement to gold—and a mainstay of America's healthy economy.

An assassination is the kind of unsettling news on which speculators sometimes feed.

The 10-nation pact to guard against speculative runs followed the October 1960 gold rush which shook the dollar. The price of gold was run up temporarily to $40 an ounce on London's free market, compared to the official U.S. Treasury price of $35.

Rumors Scotched

Rumors of devaluation of the dollar sent speculators rushing to turn in their dollars for gold. The rumors were scotched, first by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and then by President Kennedy.

The monetary insurance pact that subsequently was devised has worked this year to hold the drain of U.S. gold to a minimum although the balance of payments deficit is still runnning too high for comfort.

The London gold price, $35.07 Friday, went up on the day after the assassination to $35.11, but dropped Monday to $35.09 and held at that rate Tuesday morning.

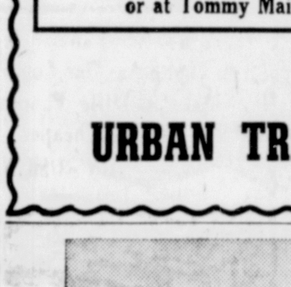

The dollar itself held steady on foreign exchanges both Saturday and Monday.

The 10-nation pact worked this way:

The Federal Reserve quickly moved into the market to buy dollars, offering large blocks of German marks, British pounds, Dutch guilders, Swiss francs and Canadian dollars.

The Federal Reserve holds such blocks under the 10-nation agreement by which such currencies are swapped to create reserves for any such emergency. Europe's central banks also stepped in immediately after news of Kennedy's death with offers of support for the dollar. Any flight from the dollar would be met by credits of European national currencies for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to use if needed.

This left little room for speculators to operate.

Body of Teacher Found In Smoke-Filled Home

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) —The body of 56-year-old Mrs. Adele W. Hailperin, a third-grade teacher, was found Tuesday in her smoke-filled home in suburban Snyder.

Firemen forced their way in after a neighbor — Albert Glunz —reported that Mrs. Hailperin had failed to answer repeated telephone calls. He said he called Mrs. Hailperin daily to awaken her because her alarm clock was broken.

Mrs. Hailperin apparently suffocated in the bedroom of the one-story home, which was damaged by flames, police said.

Con-Ed Will Issue 75 Million in Bonds

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —Consolidated Edison Co. of New York had the go-ahead today from the Public Service Commission to issue $75 million in 30-year refunding mortgage bonds.

The PSC said Tuesday the New York City - based utility would use proceeds of the securities sale to retire short-term indebtedness sustained recently for plant improvements and expansions.

Proposes School Tax Cut for Elderly Folks

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Aging property-owners with small incomes would receive a 50 per cent cut in their school taxes under the terms of a program proposed by the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Elisha T. Barrett, Suffolk County Republican, described his plan in a bill filed Tuesday for action by the 1964 Legislature.

Under Barrett's bill, local governments could grant the tax relief if voters approved it in a referendum.

The bill would permit a 50 per cent reduction in the assessed valuation of homes owned by persons over 65 with a combined annual income of $2,400 or less. The cut would apply only to school taxes.

Attorney Points To TV Slaying as Mistrial Grounds

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) —The attorney for a teen-aged boy on trial for first-degree manslaughter says Lee Oswald's violent death in the living room of television viewers constitutes grounds for a mistrial.

Defense attorney John H. Tubridy said Tuesday that some members of an Erie County court jury may have seen the slaying of President Kennedy's alleged assassin and thus would be prejudiced against Earl L. Owens Jr., defendant in the manslaughter trial.

Tubridy said observance of an act of violence resulting in death might influence jurors against a defendant.

He requested Judge Charles J. Gaughan to declare the manslaughter trial of Owens a mistrial.

Gaughan reserved decision on Tubridy's motion and ordered the jury of 11 men and one woman to continue hearing the case.

Owens, 16, of Buffalo, is accused of slaying 19-year-old William Marzec of Tonawanda. Marzec was injured May 4 in a street fight and died the next day.

Oswald, the accused murderer of President Kennery, was shot to death Sunday in Dallas, Tex. television cameras caught the slaying.

Pact to Ban Nuclear Tests Fitting Kennedy Memorial

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — President Kennedy's outstanding achievement in international affairs lives after him; it is the nuclear test ban agreement he recently concluded with Russia.

Though he never trusted the Russians, Kennedy's foreign policy was based on the possibility of coexistence with them in one world. He saw the bitter conflict between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Red China's Mao Tse-tung as an opportunity to convince the Russians their future and the future of the entire world depended on cooperation that excluded the possibility of an atomic holocaust. .

Will the new President Lyndon Johnson continue President Kennedy's foreign policies?

Historians still speculate on what the world would have looked like had President Roosevelt been alive when the last war ended in 1945. It is a known fact that his successor, the then Vice President Harry Truman, never participated actively in the conduct of foreign affairs.

Thus, when Roosevelt died there was a vacuum in American foreign policy.

Truman, in faithfully carrying out the Yalta Agreement of 1944, enabled the Russians to extend their domination to all of eastern Europe and East Germany.

Historians assent that toward the end of his life President Roosevelt realized that Russia never meant to keep the agreements reached at Yalta.

President Lyndon Johnson is in a different situation. He is no newcomer to foreign affairs. He has been Kennedy's close collaborator.

Nevertheless, there probably will be important changes in foreign policy under the new President. Lyndon Johnson is more conservative than Kennedy, has less faith in the Russians.

He is expected to try to re-establish friendly relations with French President De Gaulle and strengthen NATO and other western alliances which were in a sad state of disintegration in recent months.

Johnson doubtless will pay less attention to the academic advisers who were part of President Kennedy's entourage and seek to exploit to the advantage of the free world the conflict between Russia and Red China.

The United States is the most powerful country in the western alliance and the world's freedom in the foreseeable future will depend a great deal on President Johnson's foreign policies.

There is no doubt that for Russia President Kennedy's death has raised a hornets' nest. Nikita Khrushchev, for all his duplicity, wanted to come to some agreement with the United States. He needs a breathing spell in the Red world to mend his political fences and to come to grips with Mao Tse-tung. He exploited his on-again and off-again negotiations with President Kennedy in an effort to display his peaceful intentions.

Kennedy's death is likely to unleash the anti-Khrushchev and pro-Chinese forces in Russia. In recent weeks, Mao Tse-tung has even appealed to Red generals to "eliminate" Khrushchev.

Until now Khrushchev has been able to outmaneuver his enemies. The death of Kennedy may give his enemies their long awaited opportunity to strike again.

Prelates Belittle Efforts on Unity, Council Is Told

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Texas bishop told the Vatican Ecumenical Council today that many Roman Catholic prelates belittled Christian unity efforts and talked down to Protestants as if they were children.

Bishop Stephen Leven of San Antonio said council debate on Christian unity over the past few days had shown "how badly we need dialogue not only (Protestants and Orthodox), but among ourselves."

Bishop Leven's remarks brought a storm of applause from the 2,200 cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops. He spoke for an undisclosed number of American Roman Catholic bishops.

Council spokesmen paraphrased him as saying:

"Many (council fathers) have never come into any contact whatsoever with the separated brethren. They regarded them as children in a catechism (religious instruction) class to be talked down to."

Bishop Leven said some prelates addressing the council the past few days on unity "have been preaching to us."

He was paraphrased as adding:

"The prelates who are active in the ecumenical (Christian unity) movement are not disobedient to the Holy Father (the Pope). Those who are playing down ecumenism are going against the very wishes of Pope Paul VI.

"Let's get rid of mutual antagonisms. Those (Catholic prelates) who are working in dialogue (with non-Catholic Christians) are not prelates who have lost their churches to communism or whose churches are empty."

CP Telethon Is Set Dec. 21-22

Lewis A. Swyer, general chairman, has announced Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 21 and 22, as the date set for the 4th Annual United Cerebral Palsy Christmas Telethon. The telethon, sponsored by U.C.P. of the Capital District, will commence at 11 p. m. Saturday at the Washington Avenue Armory in Albany and continue until 6 p. m. Sunday.

The 19-hour event will be seen over WTEN-TV Channel 10. Swyer added that arrangements are under way to secure five top TV personalities to appear in person on the telethon. Swyer also was chairman of last year's highly successful telethon which realized a total of just over $98,000. "This money was used to provide care and treatment for 227 victims of cerebral palsy at the special Treatment Center on New Scotland Avenue in Albany," declared Swyer. "In addition we were able to add the much needed services of a social worker and speech therapist to the professional staff at the Center," he added.

Twenty-five cents of each dollar was invested by U.C.P. of the Capital District in the nation-wide Research Program being carried out to seek a means of preventing the occurrence of cerebral palsy. As in the past, the Cerebral Palsy Associations of Glens Falls, Amsterdam, Kingston and Berkshire County will participate in this year's event.

"Our 30th Year"

Along Capitol Corridors

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The assassin's bullet that snuffed out the life of President Kennedy also shattered Gov. Rockefeller's master campaign plan to succeed him in the White House.

In the aftermath of Kennedy's tragic death, members of the Rockefeller camp believe the governor's chances of winning the Republican presidential nomination have improved markedly.

Political Disarray

At the same time, the Rockefeller forces have been plunged into a state of political disarray.

The turn of events has wiped out the carefully developed strategy aimed at leading Rockefeller first to the GOP nomination and then to victory in the 1964 election.

"How do we go from here?" is the question that Rockefeller's best political thinkers are now asking each other.

Until the governor and his aides find a clear answer to that question, all campaign activity will be halted.

Rockefeller, who cancelled a campaign sorty into New Hampshire immediately after Kennedy's assassination, annnounced Monday that he had called off another New Hampshire trip planned for December. He also said that, except for performing his offficial duties as governor, he would withdraw from public life for the 30-day period of mourning he has proclaimed in New York State.

Start New Plan

Meanwhile, his strategy-makers will be at work on a new plan.

The old plan went this way:

—Rockefeller would step up attacks on the Democratic national administration, taking the line that Kennedy had failed to fulfill his catchy campaign promise of 1960 to get America moving again.

—Simultaneously, the governor would seek to discredit Arizona's Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater as an acceptable alternative by arguing that Goldwater's conservative philosophy was out of tune with the times.

—Finally, he would present himself as a logical compromise choice — a Republican, like Goldwater, and a progressive thinker, like Kennedy, but a man of action whose record in New York State showed he could get things done.

The sounding board for these arguments was to be the various presidential primary elections, beginning in New Hampshire, which will hold the nation's first such primary next March 10.

Part I of the strategy was destroyed by Kennnedy's death. Obviously, Rockefeller cannot risk offending the grief-stricken public by assailing the record of a man whom many regard as a heroic martyr.

Can't Train On LBJ

The governor cannot shift his fire immediately to Kennedy's successor, Lyndon B. Johnson, lest he give the impression of trying to harrass the new president out of selfish political ambition.

Part II was based on the premise that Goldwater would be Rockefeller's chief rival for the GOP nomination. But Goldwater's greatest strength was in the South, which now could be expected to support conservative Texan Johnson, should he run next year as expected.

Political observers assume the GOP will want to run a liberal or middle-of-the-road Republican against Johnson next year. This enhances Rockefeller's prospects for the nomination but also invokes the names of such men as former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. William Scranton of Pennnsylvania and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In short, Rockefeller is left without a clear target, either Democratic or Republican.

"We willl sit tight," said a Rockefeller aide. "What else can we do?"

New York State gets GROW-POWER with Savings Banks

There's an old saying that it takes money to get money. And one of the major reasons New York State's industries and people do so well is this: Savings Banks invest their depositors' money in New York's future. Item: More than 11 billion dollars of mortgages are supplied by Savings Banks. Item: Savings Banks finance the building of schools, hospitals, houses of worship, roads and utilities. Item: 6 out of every 10 savings dollars in New York State are in Savings Banks. Item: This year one billion dollars in Savings Banks' interest-dividends will be paid to depositors, one billion dollars flowing into New York State's economy.

Hope LBJ Will Reverse Closing Order on Depot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Congressional Steering Committee will seek the aid of President Johnson in its attempt to head off the planned closing of the Schenectady Army Depot and a related facility in Voorheesville, N.Y.

Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, a Democratic member, said Tuesday the group had demanded at least a month's grace before the Army orders an shutdown. The Army agreed to a temporary stay of any decision.

The committee met with Secretary of the Army Cyrus Vance. O'Brien said the feeling among New Yorkers was that the Defense Department had decided to close the depots but had not yet issued its formal order. The depots employ a total of 1,650.

O'Brien said Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the steering committee, would seek a meeting with Johnson but "one or two of us might write informally on our own."

"If President Kennedy had lived he'd reverse any shutdown order," O'Brien said, "and I think President Johnson will too."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a Republican, agreed. He said Johnson could base his decision on human factors—Schenectady is in an area of substantial unemployment.

He said the New Cumberland, Pa., Army depot, which would receive the work, is not in a depressed area.

Fuel Line Fire in Car

Firemen checked a fire in a station wagon near Colonial Gardens this morning. A telephone call at 11:33 a. m., was followed by an alarm from Box 5533, Flatbush Avenue and Farrelly Street. Firemen said a fuel line break in the car, owned by Victor Secreto, of 384 First Avenue, caused a blaze which damaged wiring and the hood. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company responded.

New Aldermen Briefed on UR by Adviser Yosman

Aldermen, who will be new members of the Common Council next year, met Tuesday night with Alexander Yosman, the city's advser on urban renewal, in the first of a series of orientation meetings in the planning board room, City Hall.

The meetings, said Yosman, have been scheduled "to bring the newly elected aldermen up to date on the city's progress with its two urban renewal programs, Broadway East and Uptown."

Joseph F. Carroll Jr., of 116 Linderman Avenue, who was elected alderman-at-large on the Republican ticket in November, and has served as 11th Ward alderman and council minority leader, attended with the new aldermen.

New Aldermen Listed

The newly elected aldermen are: Robert C. Schantz, 145 Wrentham Street, (R) Second Ward; John Naccarato, 75 Derrenbacher Street, (R) Third Ward; Anthony Alecca, 65 Gill Street (R) Fifth Ward; Leonard VanDyke, 18 Mill Street (D) Sixth Ward; Edward Norton, 108 Spring Street, (D) Seventh Ward; Peter Mancuso, 171 West Chester Street (D) Eighth Ward; Robert Gallo, 124 Andrew Street (D) Ninth Ward; James F. Howard, 106 Cedar Street (D) 10th Ward, and Raymond Armater, 84 Washington Avenue, (R) 11th Ward.

Also attending was Alderman Donald Tucker, 169 Murray Street, (R) Fourth Ward, who was elected in November, following his appointment earlier this year to succeed Robert R. Slover, of 315 Hasbrouck Avenue, who resigned.

The council will be composed of seven Republican and six Democrats in 1964. It now has eight Democrats and five Republicans.

Col. Chenault Is Kidnaped Today By 4 in Caracas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The assistant chief of the U.S. Army mission in Venezuela, Col. James K. Chenault, was kidnaped at gunpoint this morning by four armed men in Caracas.

The Pentagon, in announcing this, said Chenault was on the way from his home to headquarters of the army mission in Caracas when his official car was stopped by the kidnapers and he was removed from it.

This occurred about 7 a.m. At about 9:30 a.m., the Pentagon said, the U.S. Embassy in Caracas received a phone call from a Spanish-speaking man who said in effect, "don't worry about Col. Chenault; the kidnaping was for propaganda purposes only."

Guard Minister Who Said Pupils Cheered Slaying

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police stood guard today outside the home of a minister who said in a televised interview that some public school pupils cheered at word that President John F. Kennedy had ben shot Friday.

The Rev. William Holmes, pastor of the Northaven Methodist church, made the statement Tuesday night on CBS' Walter Cronkite program.

Sgt. W. A. Johnson said subsequent threats against the minister caused police to station two patrolmen at the Holmes residence.

A public school teacher, Miss Joanna Morgan, 22, also said some of her junior high school pupils applauded the news that Kennedy had been shot on a Dallas street.

Radio stations here quoted other teachers as denying there had been any such demonstration. Miss Morgan then said she was speaking not to criticize her school or pupils but to support the minister's account.

The cheers were heard as the word came just before classes changed, she said.

"This was not the majority of opinion by any means—it's just that this was some students' first reaction," Miss Morgan said.

The Rev. Mr. Holmes, repeating part of his Sunday sermon, asserted much of the blame for the assassination of the President lay with middle-of-the-road moderates who failed to speak or act against radical groups, right or left.

Pupils who cheered were too young to know hate first hand and were mirroring their parents' views, the minister said.

Hoover Will Bare Dallas Evidence

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas News said today that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover is expected to make public a mass of evidence assembled by officers investigating the assassination of President Kennedy.

Without naming its source, the newspaper said the White House approved a decision for the Federal Bureau of Investigation to take charge of this evidence.

It said Hoover is expected to announce, probably this week, that:

1. The evidence shows conclusively that Lee Harvey Oswald fired the shots which killed Kennedy and seriously wounded Texas Gov. John Connally here last Friday.

2. There is no proof of a Communist conspiracy.

3. Investigators lack evidence which would prove that Oswald had help and they will remain alert for anything which would shed more light on the case.

Extends Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed into law his first bill—one extending the national debt limit of $315 billion to June 29.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said today Johnson signed the measure Tuesday night.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market settled into a mixed price pattern early this afternoon following Tuesday's record upward leap.

Trading was heavy but nothing like Tuesday which turned out to be one of the busiest sessions in 30 years.

Most changes were fractional although some of the wide-moving issues were exceptions.

At noon the Dow Jones industrial average, which skyrocketed over 32 points Tuesday, was off 1.09 at 742.43. At the same time The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .7 at 277.2 with industrials down 1.0, rails off .2 and utilities off .1.

Prices opened narrowly mixed, then fell slowly. By late morning there was some improvement.

Volume for the first two hours of trading was about 2.6 million shares compared with nearly 4 million in the same period Tuesday.

Rails were mostly fractionally lower except New York Central which fell about 1.

The oil group showed a number of small plus signs. Standard (New Jersey) gained a fraction and Tidewater fell about 1¼ in extremely heavy dealings. Humble Oil, a subsidiar of Jersey Standard, announced a $329-million purchase of various Tidewater facilities.

Chrysler advanced around 1½ but Ford and American were down fractions. GM was unchanged.

American Crystal Sugar was ahead 4 points and South Puerto Rico up more than 1.

Xerox soared about 15.

Howard Johnson and Union Carbide were off about 1, Delta Air Lines gained 1.

Area Mourners

buses joined the local party. However, she said, "One could see little of the exuberant spirit that normally accompanies other charter trips." Rather, she observed, "The air was heavy with mourning."

Mrs. Costello continued the eye witness account:

Traffic Heavy to Capitol

"Once out of New York State, traffic became heavy, and by midnight the expressways to Washington were ablaze with taillights. The enormous number of cars and buses moved rapidly, however, and one could see license plates from Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and even Idaho, among the local Maryland plates.

"We arrived in Washington at 1 a. m. to find the streets lined with people waiting to pay their respects to our late beloved President. We parked the bus, and joined them.

"The line of mourners was 10 to 15 people across and more than 20 blocks long, going the length of the street to the Capitol and doubling back on itself for at least half its length. There we waited, from 1:30 in the morning, with families from Pennsylvania and college students from Michigan; with elderly persons and month-old babies; with several persons using canes and crutches. The temperature was 35 degrees and after standing in it for some time, seemed much lower.

Waited Nine Hours

"At one point a car stopped near us and the occupants, students from New Jersey, told us that they had been at that spot in line the preceding night, and it had taken them nine hours to get in. A groan went up from the crowd, but nobody left.

"Progress was indeed slow. It took, we were told, 45 minutes to walk the length of one block, and for 40 of those minutes, movement was impossible. One would stand for 20 minutes at a time, conversing with those nearby, then suddenly the mass of people would be on the move, and for perhaps 30 seconds or a minute, everyone would walk quickly to cover the ground just vacated.

"As the night wore on, strangers became friends in grief, as thousands upon thousands stood patiently, awaiting the personal moment that each would share: the few seconds to pay homage to the great man who was our President.

"At 7, dawn broke, 12 hours after we had left home. Still in line, we heard the news that the line had been cut off two blocks behind us. How many were disappointed by this necessity we did not learn.

"As we slowly ascended the steps to the Capitol, the world was shimmering in the golden light of the new day. A dawn such as this, with its promise of sunshine and cloudless skies, would be cause to rejoice on a cold November morning. The whole of our sentiment was that we were that much closer to the man whose presence we could feel as we climbed the stairs, as how many countless times he had done.

Permitted to Pass

"When we had left Kingston, the persons who had come to pay their respects as seen on television, were being kept close to the walls of the Rotunda. At 7:30, when at last we entered the Capitol, our hearts leaped to see that we would be permitted to pass within a few feet of where his body rested.

"Through tears, some of us photographed the heartbreaking personal memory, while everywhere, faces showed grief.

"Within seconds it was over; 6½ hours of waiting in the night and 6 hours of traveling, and it was worth every moment.

"We then went to find a vantage point from which to witness the day's ceremonies. Some of us went to the Cathedral, some remained at the Capitol, and the rest chose the White House or some point between.

"It is true that you at home saw more of the total picture than we did, but it made up in depth what it lacked in completeness. The sight of the caisson, not hundreds of miles away appearing as an image two inches in length on a television screen, but merely yards from where we stood; the bands playing the funeral dirge . . . right in front of us . . . this was a moment in history, happening not through that medium of make-believe, but right in front of our eyes."

Sang on Return Trip

The group returned to the bus at 2:30 p. m., Mrs. Costello said, and a half hour later was headed north out of Washington. She said traffic was light and by 7, the group stopped for dinner. In the final hour of the trip, she said, Mr. B. Vollmer of Krumville, "led us in memory tunes in honor of the man for whom we mourn."

Those who participated in the trip included, besides Vollmer: Glenda Acker, daughter of the owner of the bus line; Mrs. Norman Barker another two-year-old daughter, Stephanie; Thomas Clausi; Mr. and Mrs. James Costello and their children, Jacqueline, John and Louis; Mary Coughlin; Dennis DiDonna; Mrs. George Duffner and her daughter Colleen; Stella Ferraro; Frank Gallo; George T. Grieco; Eileen Harvey; Christine Hetsco; Particia Holpp.

Also, Robert Joy; Emil P. LaRocca; Goldie Nuylassy and her twin nephews, William and Victor; Michael Perry; Linda Pirigyi; Ada Post, Robert Schaffner, and Frank Qualtere, the driver.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Lonely Aunt's Generosity Benefits Great Nephews

Q—"I am a widow, no children, but have two little great nephews, ages nine and six. Would you advise me to invest $500 for each of these children in Northern Indiana Public Service? My aim is to let these shares stand and grow for their college education. Is there any better investment than this for my objective?" H.S.

A—Your great-nephews seem to me to be very fortunate in having so generous a great-aunt.

It is impossible for me to state categorically that there is no better investment for your purpose than Northern Indiana Public Service. Let me just say that you have made a splended selection and that there are few more consistent growth situations available.

Northern Indiana Public Service has increased earnings in every successive year for a decade, dividends have been raised in every year but one since 1953. The shares have quadrupled in price since 1953 and I see no reason why the past strong growth trend should not continue.

Q—"I am single, all alone in my late sixties, and hold the following stocks: 100 shares Columbia Gas; 100 Pennzoil; 35 Atchison Rwy; 100 El Paso Natural Gas. I have over $35,000 in savings and shortly expect another $25,000. I badly need more income. Are my present stocks all right? How should I invest my cash?" N. W.

A—I am always very much pleased to help anyone in your rather difficult and lonely position.

I like all your holdings with the exception of El Paso Natural Gas, which is faced with proposed new competition in California and the possibility of rate refunds. I would switch El Paso into Continental Can, yielding 4.8 per cent.

If you are indeed alone and feel no obligation to relatives, I believe your cash—except for $5,000 in savings for emergency should be put into a straight life annuity, which will bring you at your age a lifetime income far greater than you can get from stocks.

Greene County Woman Found Dead on Lawn

A 73-year-old Greene County woman was found dead on the lawn of her residence at Platte Clove, Tuesday afternoon, according to Leeds state police.

Troopers said Inez Reardon was discovered by Kenneth Young of Tannersville, who notified authorities. Dr. Joseph Hudes, who reportedly had been attending the woman, pronounced her dead.

A verdict of death due to natural causes — a coronary occlusion — was listed by authorities, according to troopers.

Johnson Vigorous

tive and his reactions to activity are normal."

By the end of the year, the doctors had spelled the conditions under which he could operate. Those conditions included frequent short vacations of two or three days taken throughout the year. Would he have another heart attack?

Said Dr. James C. Cain of the Mayo Clinic, a personal friend of the senator: "He does not have to have another. Because he has had one, he's not destined to have a second."

Anyone who has had a heart attack lives with the fact of it.

But Johnson has picked up his vigorous life, and has met unusual stresses without apparent ill effect.

A friend agreed that while he works hard, he relaxes hard too.

In the eight years since Johnson suffered his heart attack, he has led an active life.

Perhaps the reason is that any heart attack victim, being forewarned is being forearmed—and the warning is hard to forget.

Presidential . . .

made from the timbers of a British ship.

All these are gone, along with other Kennedy knickknacks and mementos, such as the plastic-encased coconut shell on which he carved a message for help after the PT-boat he commanded in World War II was sunk by a Japanese destroyer in the Pacific.

Johnson has a few mementos around on tables and bookshelves—a scroll and quill awarded him by national business publications and a plaque from the American Heart Association—for a man who sufffered a heart attack in 1955.

There are pictures of his mother, wife and daughters on desks and tables and one of himself and Kennedy in color on a bookshelf.

The shelves are only partly filled with books, mostly sets of volumes of writings and papers of presidents.

There are copies of Kennedy's "Profiles in Courage" and "The Strategy of Peace," of former President Harry S. Truman's two volumes on his White House years and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe."

The biggest thing in the room was the new desk to replace the Kennedy desk that is expected to wind up at the Kennedy Memorial Library at Harvard University.

The Johnson desk is twice as big, a light mahogany, with an open kneehole and minus the "secret panel" that was the delight of Kennedy's son John Jr.

Havana Turned Down Oswald Bid For Soviet Visa

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban government said Monday night that Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy, tried Sept. 27 to get a visa to go through Cuba on the way to the Soviet Union.

Oswald's request was turned down, the Cuban government said in a statement broadcast by Havana radio and monitored in Miami.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa said the request was not granted because Oswald did not have authorization from the Soviet Union.

Percentage Play Gets Rude Jolt

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The late Hal Sims was a great believer in bidding small slams only and leaving grand slam bids to others. Of course, when Sims was in his hey-day bidding was much less developed than it is now, but even today players should be very careful about risking game and a small slam in an effort to get that extra grand slam home.

North's jump to three hearts was somewhat of an overbid and South refused to let him off the hook until they were in seven.

South won the diamond opening and led a trump to his ace. West dropped the jack whereupon South crossed over to dummy again, led a second trump and finessed the 10 spot. West took his queen and that was all to the play but not all to the hand. North was bitter about the whole thing and told South that he had made a terrible play. The argument was referred to me and while I had to agree that South's play was most unfortunate I also must explain that it was the correct percentage play.

The reason why it was correct is that when West played the jack he was surely playing with a singleton jack or the lower card of doubleton queen-jack. With a singleton jack he would have been forced to play the jack. With queen-jack he might well have played the queen.

Hence the odds were that his jack had been a singleton, so South's finesse was correct in theory. So apparently was Hal Sims when he refused to bid a grand slam unless he could guarantee 13 tricks.

Why We Say--

TAIL WAGGER: The word coward is derived from the Latin word "cauda" for dog's tail. The dog was considered to be an extremely courageous animal, but when one was seen to run away from danger the animal was held in contempt and called a "cauda dog," which soon came to us as the word coward.

Caroline Makes First Visit to Grave of Father

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last of thousands had left Arlington National Cemetery when Jacqueline Kennedy, accompanied by her daughter Caroline, trudged up the slope to the grave of her husband.

It was Mrs. Kennedy's third appearance on the hillside overlooking Washington where President John F. Kennedy is buried among the nation's war dead. It was Caroline's first.

Stay for 10 Minutes

After Monday's graveside services, Mrs. Kennedy returned just before midnight with the late President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, to place flowers there.

At 5 p.m. Tuesday after the mighty and the humble had made a silent pilgrimage, the cemetery was closed to the public. About two hours later, Mrs. Kennedy appeared with Caroline. They stayed about 10 minutes.

Thursday, Mrs. Kennedy keeps alive a family tradition for Caroline, 6 today and John Jr., 3, taking them to their grandparents' home on Cape Cod for Thanksgiving.

The grieving Kennedy family will gather as they have for years at the big oceanfront home of the late President's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, at Hyannis Port, Mass.

Mrs. Kennedy and the children will fly to Cape Cod on Thanksgiving morning aboard the Kennedy family plane "Caroline."

To Remain Until Monday

She will stay over the holiday weekend, returning to the White House Monday to complete plans for moving out to make way for the family of President Johnson.

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said Mrs. Kennedy will probably finish moving Thursday of next week. It is expected she will take up residence in Washington.

Before they came to the White House in January 1961, the Kennedys lived in a narrow red brick house in Georgetown.

It is understood that Mrs. Kennedy will rent or buy another house not too far away.

Listed in Register

NEW YORK (AP)—The latest edition of the New York Social Register Tuesday listed Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller together in its 1964 edition.

The listing ended speculation that their names might be dropped because of their divorces and remarriages.

No Mail Delivery On Thanksgiving

The Kingston Post Office and its stations will not be open for business Thursday, Nov. 28, in observance of Thanksgiving Day. There will be no city delivery or rural service.

The following is a schedule of hours being maintained for convenience of persons renting post office boxes:

Main post office — Lobby open from 6 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Uptown station — Lobby open 8:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m.

Rondout Station—Lobby open from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m.

JFK Plea Moves Senate to Kill Wheat Sale Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate heard an appeal written by John F. Kennedy not long before his assassination, and moments later did what he asked.

After hours of debate, the Senate was about to act Tuesday night on a bill which would jeopardize sale of U.S. wheat to Russia.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield then rose and read the appeal from the late President.

"If this amendment is adopted," Kennedy had written, "it is not primarily Communists who will be damaged, but the American producer and exporter."

By a 57-35 vote the Senate then voted to table and thus kill the bill of Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-Sd., previously offered as an amendment—which would have banned use of the Export Import Bank to insure payments by Soviet and other Communist wheat buyers.

Voting to table the bill were 48 Democrats and 9 Republicans; 24 Republicans and 11 Democrats voted against tabling it.

The Kennedy letter was unsigned but his name was typed at the bottom on White House stationery.

To Delete JFK Reference

NEW YORK (AP) — All 350 film copies of the movie, "Take Her, She's Mine," which opened here Nov. 13, have been recalled by 20th Century Fox to delete references to President Kennedy.

A Fox spokesman said Tuesday a scene in which a character supposedly speaks to Mrs. John F. Kennedy is being removed and two scenes in which an actor speaks in a voice resembling the late President's are being dubbed with another voice.

Thanksgiving, 1963

Kennedy's Last Proclamation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is the text of the Thanksgiving Day proclamation issued by President Kennedy on Nov. 5 which President Johnson urged be read in the nation's churches on Thursday:

Over three centuries ago our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts far from home in a lonely wilderness set aside a time for thanksgiving. On the appointed day, they gave reverent thanks for their safety, for the health of their children, for the fertility of their fields, for the laws which bound them together and for the faith which united them under their God.

Thanksgiving Prayer

So, too when the colonies achieved their independence, our first president in the first year of his first administration proclaimed Nov. 26, 1789, as "a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of almighty God" and called upon the people of the new republic to "beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions, to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best."

And so too in the midst of America's tragic Civil War, President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday of November, 1863, as a day to renew our gratitude for America's "fruitful fields' for our "national strength and vigor'" and for our "singular deliverance and blessings."

Much time has passed since the first colonists came to rocky shores and dark forests of an unknown continent, much time since President Washington led a young people into the experience of nationhood, much time since President Lincoln saw the American nation through the ordeal of fraternal war — and in these years our population, our plenty and our power have all grown apace. Today we are a nation of nearly two hundred million souls, stretching from coast to coast, on into the Pacific and north toward the arctic, a nation enjoying the fruits of an ever-expanding agriculture and industry and achieving standards of living unknown in previous history. We give our humble thanks for this.

Power, Peril Grow

Yet, as our power has grown, so has our peril. Today we give our thanks, most of all, for the ideals of honor and faith we inherit from our forefathers—for the decency of purpose, steadfastnesss of resolve and strength of will, for the courage and the humility, which they posssessed and which we must seek every day to emulate. As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words but to live by them.

Let us therefore proclaim our gratitude to Providence for manifold blessings — let us be humbly thankful for inherited ideals — and let us resolve to share those blessings and those ideals with our fellow human beings throughout the world.

Now, therefore, I, John F. Kennedy, President of the United States in consonance with the joint resolution of Congress approved Dec. 26, 1941, 55 Stat. 862, 5 U.S.C. 87 B, designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 28, 1963, as a day of national thanksgiving.

On that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist.

Lady Bird No Stranger, 1960 Campaign Veteran

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)— Earlier this year, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson was asked about her plans for the future, and she replied:

"It's hard enough to get today's work done; I'll let tomorrow take care of itself. Whatever Lyndon does, I'll be happy doing it right along with him."

Always Beside Husband

The words paint a portrait of the small, brunette, 50-year-old woman who is the new First Lady of the United States.

She is one who is always there beside her husband, managing a household, taking her teen-age daughters shopping.

"Beguiling and efficient," is the way Adlai Stevenson described her.

To those who don't know her, perhaps the first thing that will be noticed is her Texas drawl. It's unmistakable but has a touch of softness akin to the South. Her mother came from Alabama.

But many across the nation already know her, for Mrs. Johnson rode the campaign trail for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket in 1960. Sometimes she went alone, sometimes with groups of Kennedy ladies, going to teas and receptions, appearing on radio and television and holding press conferences.

For a while she didn't make speeches, confining herself to "thank you-all," but she took some speech courses and gained confidence.

Name Intrigues Many

Her name, Lady Bird, intrigues many. Born in Karmack, Tex., Dec. 22, 1912, she was named Claudia Alta Taylor. But a nursemaid said she looked just like a lady bird, and that name stuck. Her close friends call her Bird.

Those are the first glances at Lady Bird Johnson.

Back of these—a girl who took scholastic honors in high school and earned two degrees from the University of Texas, a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of journalism in 1934... a canny business woman... a woman who has spent most of her married life in the whirl of politics.

On Nov. 17, 1934, she and Lyndon B. Johnson were married, and three years later she started knowing the life of the wife of a public official when he came to Congress.

Earlier this year an Arab diplomat protested her honorary sponsorship of a ball honoring Israel's independence. Mrs. Johnson answered that firmly:

"... I have, for whatever small value it may be, tried to be accessible and available to as many as possible, without distinction as to religion, race or region, and certainly including all states of the Near East. I shall continue to do so."

The Johnsons have made it a policy to try to weave their two daughters into their public life. Lynda Bird, 19, a sophomore at the University of Texas, looks and acts like her father. She likes people. She's the outgoing type. Lucy Baines, 16, is more reserved.

All members of the family like the easy, casual, open-door way of life at the Johnson's ranch near Johnson City, Tex. Mrs. Johnson is not what you call a horsewoman. She is the one who goes ahead to the ranch to prepared for guests almost always there when the Johnsons are there. She sees that everything runs smoothly.

She will not contemplate moving to the White House, she said, until all the chores Mrs. Kennedy wishes to be done are done.

"I wish to heaven I could serve Mrs. Kennedy's happiness," Mrs. Johnson said. "I can at least serve her convenience."

Home Holiday for LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson plan to have a family dinner at their home on Thanksgiving Day.

The White House said their two daughters, Lynda Bird and Lucy, will be there and so will Lynda's fiance, Bernard Rosenbach.

Anniversary Schedule

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — The American Shakespeare Festival will celebrate its 10th season and the 400th anniversary of the bard's birth next summer with "Hamlet," "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Richard III."

Two of the plays will be performed for student audiences for nine weeks prior to start of the season for the general public. Joseph Verner Reed, festival producer, said a fourth production, yet to be selected, may be a non-Shakespearean work. Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" was done last summer, the first time the company offered a work by another playwright.

Ruby Calms Down, Faces Early Trial

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, who shot the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy as thousands watched on television, may go to trial on a murder charge within two weeks.

County grand jurors indicted Ruby Tuesday in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald. Ruby's trial is tentatively set for Dec. 9.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said he will ask the death penalty.

Still Excitable

Defense lawyer Tom Howard of Dallas said the highly emotional Ruby had settled down somewhat since the shooting in the City Hall basement as police started to move Oswald to the county jail.

"He was much more calm than he was yesterday," Howard said. "He talked in more normal tones but he is still an excitable person when he talks normally."

The lawyer said Ruby mentioned seeing a picture of Mrs. Kennedy with blood on her dress.

"'Tears came to his eyes,'" Howard said. "He showed tremendous concern for the Kennedys."

Ruby, 52, who owns a downdown strip tease establishment and a dance hall in Dallas, told Howard he stopped Sunday at the spot where Kennedy was shot two days earlier. This was shortly before Ruby went on to the city jail where Oswald was killed.

Ruby, known to many Dallas policemen, waited outside the jail with newsmen Sunday. As Oswald was being escorted to an armored car, Ruby lunged from the crowd and fired.

Knows of No Links

Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and a congressional committee have ordered probes of both the Kennedy and Oswald slayings.

Howard said he knew of no connection between Ruby and Oswald. He said that as his client told it, Ruby first saw Oswald Friday night. This was a few hours after the assassination when Oswald was charged first with killing a Dallas police officer and taken before newsmen.

There has been some speculation that Oswald was killed to prevent him from talking more to police. He died without admitting either slaying.

Three large packages of evidence assembled in the Oswald case were turned over to the FBI Tuesday by Dallas police.

Live Plus Film

NEW YORK (AP)—A theatrical process developed in Czechoslovakia that combines movies and on-stage action is to be displayed on Broadway in February. Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman" will be the attraction.

Called Laterna Magika, the process aims at novel effects in light, color and sound. An earlier version of the technique was demonstrated at the 1958 World's Fair in Brussels.

Monitor Platform Vital to Lives of FutureAstronauts

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An interplanetary monitoring platform — IMP — soared through space today on a radiation-sensing mission vital to the lives of travelers to the moon.

IMP's prime assignment is to determine if satellite instruments can forecast solar flares on the sun. Flares spew torrents of radiation into interplanetary space.

As IMP shot skyward Tuesday night, another Cape Canaveral launch crew made preparations to fire the high-energy Atlas-Centaur space rocket on an orbiting development flight between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. (EST) today.

IMP is a step toward a U.S. goal of foolproof solar flare forecasting before 1968-69 when the first three-man project Apollo teams are to take off for the moon. During these years, flare activity will be at a peak, with explosions possibly occurring as frequently as every 20 minutes.

A 90-foot tall Delta rocket propelled IMP on its voyage at 9:30 p.m. Project officials reported radio data indicated the flawlessly.

The officials said exact path of the satellite will not be known for a day or two. IMP was aimed on a course ranging from 125 to 173,000 miles high.

Home for Visit Ist in Year With Two New Kidneys

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Last April, it didn't look like James Connor would be coming home for Thanksgiving.

His kidneys had become diseased and useless. Few persons have survived a transplanted kidney operation.

But Tuesday, James Connor—possibly the first person in the United States to undergo two kidney transplants—came home for the first time in nearly a year.

He and his wife, Mary Annn, flew in from Richmond, Va., where Connnor has been confined to the Medical College of Virginia.

"The doctors say they won't consider discharging me until January," Connor said. "Everything depends on how well the second kidney performs between now and then."

Connor, 37, underwent his first kidney transplant operation in April. His brother-in-law, Robert Elman, donated the kidney.

The organ functioned successfully for about three months before Connor's body rejected it. For the next 40 days, he was kept alive by an artificial kidney.

Then, three and a half months ago, a second kidney was transplanted to his body, this time from a man who had died.

"I have never beeen able to learn the name of the man from whom the kidney was taken," Connor said.

Woman Is Found Guilty in Death Of Her Husband

LYONS, N. Y. (AP) — A 35-year-old woman who allegedly hired a farmhand to kill her husband has been found guilty of second-degree manslaughter.

Mrs. Stella Klymiuk wept when the verdict of the State Supreme Court jury was announced Tuesday night at her first-degree murder trial.

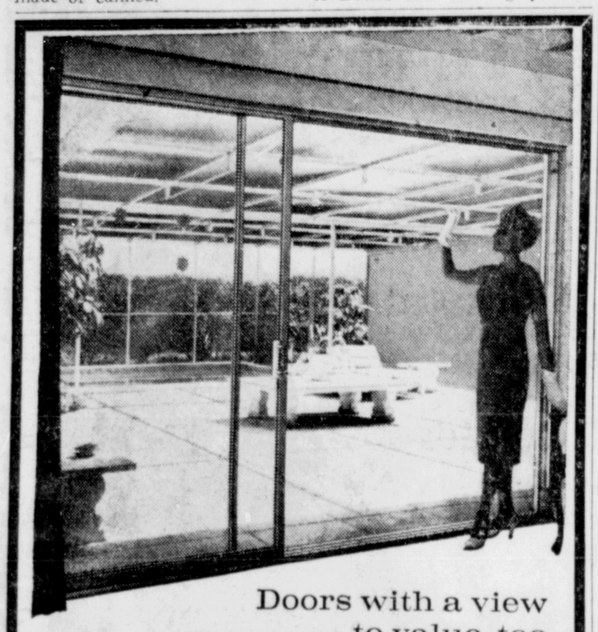

Justice Charles B. Brasser had instructed the jury it could return any of five verdicts, including innocent.

The jury, composed of nine men and three women, deliberated for about five and a half hours.

The farmhand, Wesley E. Nash, 20, had been tried last month on a charge of first-degree murder and was convicted of first-degree assault.

Nash appeared as a surprise witness at Mrs. Klymiuk's trial and testified he shot her husband, Jurko, 45, for a promise of $1,500 from her. Klymiuk was found shot in the head Nov. 8, 1962 on his farm near Prattsburg.

Mrs. Klymiuk contended from the stand that Nash had offered to kill her husband in return for money. She said her reply was that she would give him "'1,000 days in jail.'"

Kennedy Imitator WhoMadeFortune Dropping Routine

NEW YORK (AP) — Vaughn Meader, who rose to fame and collected a fortune through his recordings spoofing President Kennedy and his family, says he never expects to do the imitation again.

Meader said through his manager Tuesday that in respect for the late president, he has requested postponement of two nightclub appearances scheduled for later this month and next.

In his nightclub routine, Meader devoted about five minutes of his hour-long stint on stage doing the imitations of President Kennedy which made him famous.

His record, "The First Family," sold more than 5 million copies since it was put on the market Nov. 7, 1962, to set an all-time high for record sales in the United States.

LBJ Must Face Key Political Issue Of the Day: Full Equality for Negro

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The towering domestic problem in the United States today, and a tricky political issue in the battle for the presidency next year, is the question of full equality for the Negro.

President Johnson is a Southerner.

But speaking last Memorial Day on the site of the Battle of Gettysburg Johnson said:

"Until justice is blind to color, until education is unaware of race, until opportunity is unconcerned with the color of men's skins, emancipation will be a proclamation but not a fact."

Can Cost Votes

Johnson helped guide some civil rights legislation through the Senate in 1957 and 1960.

As a political realist, he knows his position on civil rights can cost him votes in the likely event that he is the Democratic nominee in 1964. In Texas, only a few hours before President Kennedy was assassinated, Johnson said, "the civil rights issue is going to hurt us."

It may be a factor in parts of the North too. Some Northern politicians call civil rights and "iceberg issue"—meaning there is more hidden than visible opposition to Kennedy administration proposals in this field.

Where does Johnson stand on other issues?

Cuba—"We shall not be content until the last of the Soviet forces are withdrawn from foreign soil."

Foreign aid—"'No nation can long enjoy affluence when all the other nations are impoverished.'"

Defense—"We cannot be done with our dangers or even our duties by next weekend or next year. We are in for a long pull and it is our duty to begin pulling."

Communist China — "America stands firm with her Chinese (Nationalist) allies and we shall continue to do so until freedom is secured."

Policies Consistent With JFK

Disarmament—"We now face the prospect of detroying ourselves. . .I am calling for an open curtain for full discussion of the immediate, urgent problems facing our people. We should insist on the right to state our case on disarmament in detail to the Soviet people." (He said this in 1957, before the agreement to ban nuclear testing.)

Latin America—"We must revitalize our diplomatic corps with ambassadors who know and understand our neighbors and their language and have qualifications other than contributing to campaign chests.

"We must offer to the people of Latin America the very best technical know-how which will help them to develop their skills and to make and sell their products.'"

Johnson's voting record shows:

Diversified Voting Record

Labor—In 1947, he voted to override President Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act. In 1952, he voted to request the President to invoke the injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley act in the steel strike. In other votes, he opposed requiring unions to elect their officers by secret ballot every four years and requiring a majority vote by secret ballot before a union could call a strike.

Education—In 1949, he voted for a $300 million federal aid to education bill and against an amendment to restrict aid to public schools. In 1960, he voted to provide $917 million a year for two years for school construction and teachers' salaries.

Agriculture—He voted for the Democratic program of high, rigid farm price supports. During President Eisenhower's adagainst the sliding scale urged by the then secretary of agriculture, Ezra Benson.

For Lower Personal Taxes

Taxes—In 1948, Johnson voted against the tax reduction bill passed in the Republican-controlled Congress over President Truman's veto. He had supported a move to send the bill back to committee with instructions to raise personal exemptions to $700 and increase corporate taxes. In 1951, he voted against a tax bill amendment to provide for a withholding tax on dividends.

Welfare—He voted for area ability benefits under Social Security, extending Social Security coverage, increased grants for public assistance, establishing a youth conservation corps, larger appropriations for federally sponsored medical research, slum clearance and low rent housing legislation.

Johnson Invites Wagner to Hear Congress Address

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson ignited some political speculation today by inviting New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner to sit in a special section of the House of Representatives gallery.

Among the ideas prompted here by the invitation was one that Wagner may emerge as Johnson's vice presidential running mate in 1964.

Three Others Get Bid

Wagner is sitting with President Johnson's wife and daughters as the President addressed a joint session of Congress.

The President invited only three other guests to join the family in a special section of the House of Representatives gallery.

They were Gov. Carl E. Sanders of Georgia, former Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, now chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Housing, and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

In addition to Wagner, others mentioned as vice presidential possibilities were the two Minnesota senators, Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic Senate whip and Eugene J. McCarthy.

Open to V-P Job

Wagner, being a northern Catholic, it was felt in New York, would give balance to a ticket headed by Johnson, a southern Protestant.

The New York mayor has been considered as a possible candidate for the Senate. Although it has been generally conceded he could have the nomination, he has said he is undecided over whether to seek the post.

It was believed, however, that he definitely would prefer to stand for vice president, if asked to do so.

Missing: Big Sign

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —There's not a sign of a 1,000-pound billboard stolen from the side of a Chattanooga building.

City detectives said the sign, owned by Service Auto Parts Co., was 15 feet high, 25 feet long and was lighted by four shaded, flashing flood lamps.

China Hears on Tuesday

TOKYO (AP) — Commmunist China's official New China news agency for the first time reported without comment Tuesday the funeral services of President John F. Kennedy.

Held in Clothes Theft

TORONTO (AP) — Janice Parker, 22, and Eva Ginger Jones, 37, both of Buffalo, N.Y., were charged Tuesday with theft of $459 worth of clothing from a Toronto dress shop.

Mid-Hudson Cotillion Is Scheduled This Year For December 27; Two Ulster Girls Included

SHELBY I. SCHOONMAKER

BARBARA ANNE WILLIAMS

It has been announced that the 1963 Mid-Hudson Cotillion will take place Friday night, Dec. 27 in the Poughkeepsie Tennis Club.

Twelve debutantes from the Mid-Hudson Valley will be introduced to society. Among them will be Miss Shelby Isabel Schoonmaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker Jr., of Kingston, and Miss Barbara-Anne Marie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Williams of Rosendale.

BECOMES ILL AT NIGHT CLUB

Q: My boy friend and I had a date with another couple to go to a night club last Saturday night. After we were there about an hour, my girl friend said she felt sick and wanted to go home. As her boy friend accompanied her, I saw no point in our leaving, so my boy friend and I stayed on. When I called her the next day she was very cool to me and from what she said I gather she feels we were very unconcerned about her health because we did not leave with her. Will you please tell me if we were wrong not to have left with them?

A: If the boy she was with took her home, there was no reason why you and your boy friend had to leave too, and I think your girl friend was very selfish to expect you to spoil your evening because of her. Had you let her go home alone that would be another story.

Addressing Invitations

Q: Very soon I will be addressing the invitations to my wedding and I would like to know if it is permissible to send one invitation to an engaged couple, or is it necessary that each be sent a separate one?

A: Correctly, they should be sent separate ones, but it would be permissible if your invitations are running short to send only one. In this case, you address the outside envelope to Miss Mary Smith and the inside envelope to Miss Smith and Mr. John Jones.

Dating Formal Note

Q: When writing a formal third person note of acceptance, or regret, is it necessary, or even proper, to put a date on it? If so, where is it put, at the beginning or at the end of the note?

A: You do not include a date except of course the date of the wedding, or dinner, or whatever it is you are accepting or regretting.

CAST OF KHS PLAY includes (l-r) Wesley Hyatt as Hannibal; Lynn Charlton as Miss Willie; Dale Malcolm in the role of Florence; Bob Schmidt as Jeff; Alice Scully as fairy; Dana Mastrogiacomo portraying Mrs. Savage; Paul Kenik as Titus; and John Donnaruma as Dr. Emmitt. The show, which had only one performance and was then canceled because of the tragic death of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, has been rescheduled for this Friday and Saturday with curtains at 8:30 p. m. Tickets will be sold at the door.

KHS Senior Class Reschedules Its Play; Production Slated for Friday, Saturday

The senior class play at Kingston High School gave one performance on Thursday night, Nov. 21 and canceled its other two because of the tragic news of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy's death.

Jack B. Burton, director, announced today the play will be repeated this Friday and Saturday (Nov. 29, 30) in the Kingston High School auditorium with curtains at 8:30 p. m.

Attending opening night was Theodore Sturgeon of Woodstock. He had this to say about the production:

"THE CURIOUS SAVAGE by John Patrick as performed by the senior class under the direction of Jack Burton, is a cheerful and surprising play. The story is populated by as fine a collection of kooks, loonies and vivacious nuts as had been seen since there were four Marx brothers. Yet each is distinctive and there is real humanity and pathos in many of the characterizations. The Savage in question is a most endearing widow, Mrs. Ethel P. Savage, deftly played by Dana Mastrogiacomo, who having had no madcap girlhood, has decided to make up for it in her later years.

"Her relatives, a Senator, played by Paul Kenik, a socialite, played by Chris Kasp Kaspshak, and a judge, played by Scott Sharot, decide to bury her in an institution to keep her out of sight. The discovery that she alone knows where the family's 10 million dollars is hidden makes the play. The interaction between Mrs. Savage and the other inmates and staff, played by Dale Malcolm, Wesley Hyatt, Alice Scully, Bob Schmidt, Louise Niterbuhl, Lynne Charlton and John Donnaruma, make the evening a delicious one.

Acting honors go, without question, to Alice Scully, who plays the inmate Fairy May. She has a naturalness and vibrance which is born, not made; a good voice and the ability to BE her role. If acting is her future choice, she will choose well. Especially enjoyable also was Wesley Hyatt, as Hannibal, a violinist that shouldn't happen to Carnegie Hall, or any other hall.

"Entre' acts were engagingly performed by the KHS Orchestra under the direction of Mark Bacznsky."

Urban Renewal Is Topic for B&P Club

On November 20 the Business and Professional Club of the YWCA heard a talk on urban renewal given by Ward B. Tongue.

It was stated the change downtown will include only that area east of Broadway, south of Stuyvesant Street, east of Livingston Street and south of Delaware Avenue. Most of Hasbrouck Avenue will be eliminated and a new road built leading to a new Rondout Creek Bridge from Delaware Avenue.

It was also stated 116 acres will be transformed into an attractive convenience neighborhood with a shopping center, modern industries, homes, parks and playgrounds.

A lively discussion was held and many questions asked about the welfare of people now living in the area.

Mr. Tongue informed the club members this project is shared by local, state and national planning, each sharing the expense. Changes may be expected in two years. He stated also it will be some time before the uptown project is started. Wall Street will become a pedestrian mall. Historic buildings will remain and only the area between Green Street and Wall Street, from North Front Street to John Street will be involved.

The next supper meeting is scheduled for December 4. Mrs. Raymond Ingersoll, who spent several months in Turkey with her husband, an army career man, will be the guest speaker.

Kingston Couple Married 55 Years; Special Service

White chrysanthemums decorated the altar of Immanuel Lutheran Church on Sunday, Nov. 17 in honor of the 55th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Christian L. Schleede, 79 Lindsley Avenue, Kingston, married before the same altar on November 18th, 1908. The flowers were a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buddenhagen and Mr. and Mrs. August Wiedemann, their nieces and nephews. The children and grandchildren of these couples presented the corsage and boutonniere which were worn throughout the day by Mr. and Mrs. Schleede. Early in the church service the minister, the Rev. Carl J. Goette, dedicated two brass collection plates to the glory of God in honor of this faithful church couple. These were gifts to the church from the Schleede children.

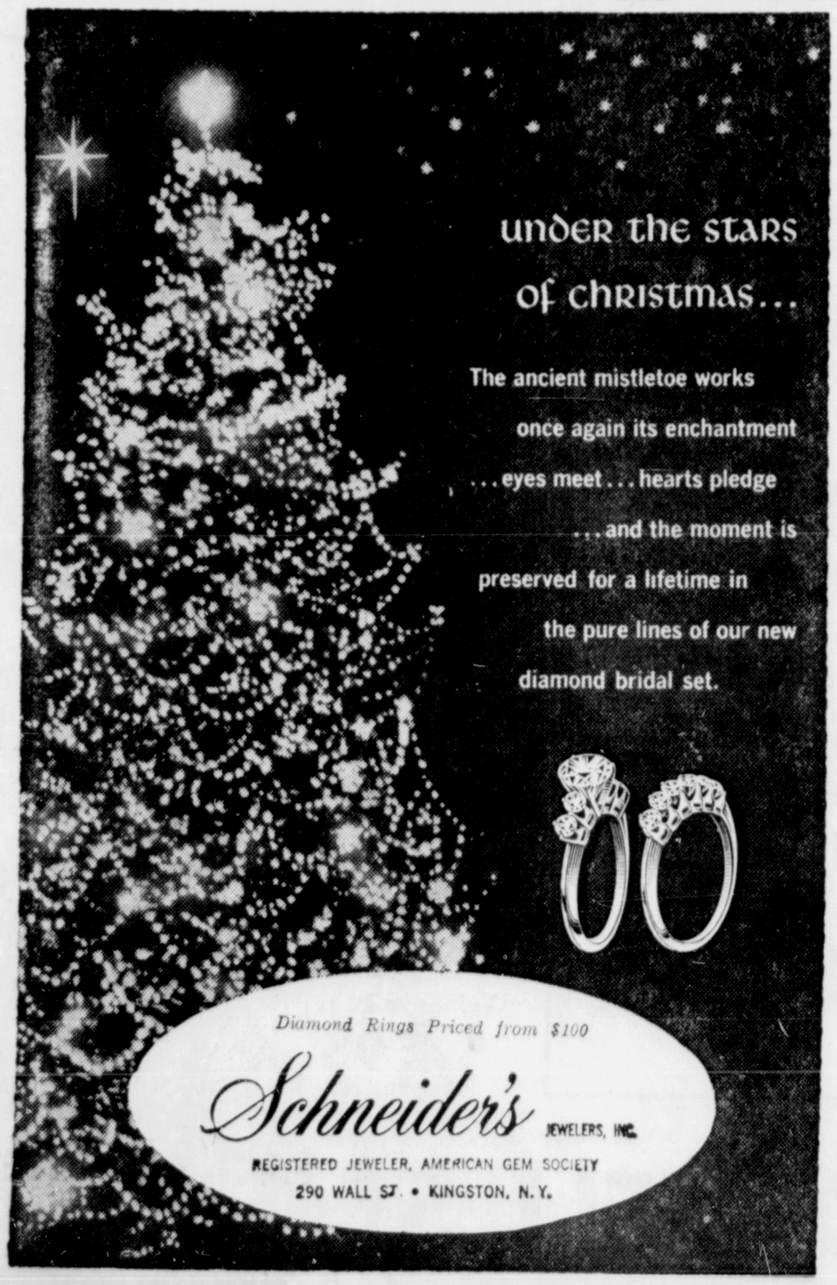

In addition to the special prayer of thanksgiving for God's many blessings over the years, the congregation rose to sing the hymn, "O Perfect Love," a traditional Lutheran wedding hymn. Mrs. John L. Lindhorst, Mrs. Schleede's sister, bridesmaid at the wedding in 1908, attended the service. Harry Saehloff, the best man, resides in St. Louis, Mo. and was unable to attend.

House guests were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Schleede, Kathleen, wife of Chaplain C. Theodore Kuehn of Fort Devens, Mass., Olga, wife of Ralph Frey of Oakland, Calif., and Miss Harriet Schleede, who resides with her parents.

Open house was held from 2 p. m. through late evening for neighbors, friends and relatives. The guest list included visitors from Catskill, New Paltz, Hudson, Poughkeepsie, New York city and Flushing, L. I.

Hurley Resident Celebrates 95th Birthday Monday

Celebrating her 95th birthday Monday was Mrs. Cora E. Drake. Festivities took place at the home of her niece, Miss Adaline Lawson in Hurley where Mrs. Drake now resides. Miss Jennie Terpening, a friend of many years, who is 92 years old, spent the day with her.

During the past few days, numerous friends have called to see her and she has received many cards and messages. Last Wednesday afternoon about 15 girls of the Hurley Crickets, a 4-H group, with their leaders, Mrs. A. G. Currie and Mrs. Earl Wright, brought Mrs. Drake a birthday cake, which they had prepared, for a surprise prebirthday party.

Mrs. Drake was born in West Hurley in 1868, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Ennist. In 1889 she married Dr. William F. Drake, a prominent physician of that time, and then lived in New York City for about 15 years. After the death of her husband, she came to Kingston where she resided at 88 O'Neil Street for over 50 years. She has been a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Kingston for over 40 years and has been active as a Sunday school teacher and in other phases of church work for most of that time. She is a past president and charter member of Sorosis Club and a charter member of YWCA.

Mrs. Drake maintains her interest in current events and will readily discuss almost any subject. She has made scores of friends over the years and she is beloved and respected by all who know her. There is nothing she likes more than a chat with one of her countless friends.

'Elijah' Rehearsals Begin; Ulster County Choral Society Inc.

The Ulster County Choral Society Inc., now in rehearsal, will present in April, 1964, Felix Mendelssohn's Oratorio, "Elijah." This work will be sung as it has not been done in the Hudson Valley in many years in its entirety with full orchestra and professional soloists.

The Ulster County Choral Society is a mixed chorus of 100 voices under the direction of Percy W. Gazlay II. The society is strictly amateur, non-profit non-sectarian. The only requisite for membership is that one must love to sing and have a desire to bring great choral music to this community. Such persons are urged to contact James F. Stay, Saugerties, general manager for the production of "Elijah."

"Elijah" is a deeply religious work, dramatizing the Old Testiment story of the great Hebrew Prophet; his contest with the priests of the pagan God Baal, his intercession with the Almighty to end the great drought and famine; the people's joy as the rains come—and finally Elijah is carried to Heaven in a 'fiery, fiery chariot' with 'fiery, fiery horses.

Many of the beautiful and inspiring choruses, solos, duets, and quartets are quite familiar having been sung in churches and temples throughout the western world as part of the regular Sabbath service for nearly a century.

A TREAT FOR THANKSGIVING DAY—Proud the "Pilgrim" who fetes her family on Thanksgiving Day with this home decorated delight. As for the turkey, try roasting it in an open pan with a piece of foil dropped loosely over the bird. This method keeps the white meat moist and the skin from overbrowning. A slow oven (325 degrees F.) should be used.

Area Chamber Music Series Is Planned By Philharmonic

A "supper-concert" will start this winter's series of chamber music in Poughkeepsie, according to Mrs. Jesse Effron, chairman of the Philharmonic Chamber Music committee. "Candlelight and a buffet supper will lend an unusual note to our first concert for this season," Mrs. Effron said. "A supper concert is something quite new for Poughkeepsie. Coffee concerts in Philadelphia and dinner concerts in Warwick, N. Y. have been very successful, so we are trying something similar here."

Mrs. Effron's committee made plans for the third annual series of winter concerts at a recent meeting held in her home. She appointed Mrs. Sarkis Isberian, Robert Murphy and Mrs. Harold Ross to take charge of arrangements for the supper-concert. Mrs. Joseph V. Kahn was named treasurer. Mrs. Robert Murphy will be in charge of tickets; Mrs. David DeWitt, promotion; Mrs. Howard Winn, publicity; Mrs. Bernard Slade, programs. Mrs. Alice Smiley, Philharmonic concertmaster, is musical director for the series and James Coover, orchestra personnel manager, will be the manager for the chamber music concerts.

The supper-concert is scheduled for January 19 at the Hellenic Center, Poughkeepsie, where a buffet supper will take place during the concert intermission. Musicians for this event will be the Philharmonic Woodwind Quintet.

Hudson Valley Philharmonic musicians will also participate in two chamber music concerts to be held at Skinner Hall, Vassar college, as in previous years. These will take place on Sunday afternoons at 4 p. m., Feb. 2 and Feb. 23.

Program for the concerts will be announced later, according to Mrs. Smiley.

Kindergarteners Tour Turkey Farm

Thanksgiving in America is symbolized by the traditional gobbler prominent on the dinner table.

To the youngsters of the Glasco kindergarten classes this holiday should mean much more this year since they had an opportunity to visit Pat's Turkey Farm on Route 32 last Thursday.

To most of these five-year-olds, this meant their first encounter with real live turkeys and to see so many of them at one time was a new experience.

Pat Scarselli, owner of the farm, has a large number of beautiful, white midget turkeys among his stock this year.

The three classes, numbering almost 100 children, were the students of Mrs. Ann Mahoney and Miss June Hagstrom.

Firemen Out Two Hours at Blaze In Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie firemen on Tuesday afternoon battled a costly fire that swept through a large storehouse on the North side of the city and destroyed or heavily damaged road machinery and equipment.

Firemen were dispatched to the W. W. Kingston & Co. Inc., property at 37 Bement Avenue, shortly after 2 p. m. and fire fighters fought the flames more than an hour before the fire was brought under control. Firemen were at the scene more than two hours.

During the height of the fire the blaze was so intensive that the heat scorched the siding of a residence on Dutcher Place.

The fire was one of four extinguished by Poughkeepsie firemen yesterday. The other three were of minor nature.

November Jurors Excused Tuesday

Jurors at the November trial term of County Court, except those actually engaged on a trial, were excused from further service Tuesday afternoon by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

In excusing the jurors Judge Mino remarked that although some of the jurors had not been required to sit on an actual trial, their presence in court and their availability as jurors had been instrumental in disposing of many criminal as well as civil cases.

During the term a number of criminal cases were disposed of either by trial or through pleas. Likewise a number of civil matters had been disposed of by trial or settlement.

All criminal matters remaining on the criminal calendar were moved over the term by Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torraca.

Kingston, NFA in 58th Football Meeting Thursday at Dietz

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Newburgh Free Academy, with a chance to tie or share outright the school's first DUSO football league championship since 1952, is a touchdown favorite over the homestanding Kingston High as the rivals meet for the 58th time Thanksgiving morning, 11 o'clock, at Dietz Stadium.

The flashy Goldbacks will bring their rock-ribbed defense into the Colonial City as they tempt to snap a two-game losing string at the hands of the Maroon players.

Coached by the capable Charles (Rip) Fornal, the ex-Syracuse grid performer, the Hilly City eleven has blossomed into a solid defensive club, though shy in overall speed or scoring ability.

Kingston, in the role of an underdog for one of the few times in recent seasons against the Goldbacks, will have to find a way to penetrate the NFA forward wall or shatter its defensive secondary.

Can Clinch Tie

A win for Newburgh will give the club no worse than a tie for the circuit championship. If the Goldies come out on top and Middletown either ties or beats Port Jervis, then the visitors will have their first title in 11 season.

Though the name of their game is defense, the Goldbacks have one of the most versatile quarterbacks in the league in Pete Petrillo, son of the assistant coach at the school.

Petrillo is an excellent passer but is also dangerous as a runner, especially on the rollout. Against Port Jervis, he was almost a one-man show in the backfield as the Goldies surprised the Raiders by holding them back to a 14-14 tie.

Sophomore Kris Jackson is the only long distance threat the visitors have. However, he was stopped cold at Port Jervis. If he should break loose against Kingston, it will make Petrillo that much more effective.

A Good Line

In the line, Newburgh excels. Ernie Siebert, a 162 junior, is one of the best defensive players in the area. He is also the target of several of Petrillo's passes. Linebacker Ken Johnson, also a junior, is all over the field and he was the outstanding performer in the Port Jervis battle.

The only doubtful starter is tackle Charles Johnson, a 6-3, 194 pound lad who played fullback two years ago and was switched to the line this season. He's missed a couple of games and will be suited up for this one. If he doesn't start, James Sartin will get the nod.

Kingston coach Bill Hurley has been working his squad through two weeks of heavy drills as he hopes to whip the visitors to climax his first season as head coach.

Aside from pass catching ace Len Mills, the squad is reported to be in excellent condition. Mills is out of the game because of an injury.

Good Passing Attack

Quarterback Paul Gruner, one of the top passers in the league, will have ends Jim Plunket and John Sexton and halfback Joe Schabot as his chief targets.

When the locals go to the ground, fullback Tom Auringer, a threat at any time, will probably get called in most situations. Oscar Palmer and Ted Stroter, the capable reserve, can carry the mail.

Hurley and chief assistant Ron Cole have made some changes up front. Eddie Mills, an outstanding performer at guard, has been switched to center, the position he played on the jayvees. Jack Schatzel, a good looking prospect, is expected to start at guard in place of Mills.

After starting the season in impressive fashion with wins over Suffern and Albany, the locals haven't been on the long end of the score since.

Offensive Problems

They played to a 7-7 tie against Poughkeepsie but have been whipped by White Plains, Mont Pleasant, Middletown and Port Jervis. In fact, the offense hasn't picked up more than one touchdown in the past five games.

On defense, the locals will have to stop the passing and running of Petrillo and also neutralize the speed of Jackson in order to aid their chances of winning.

Newburgh hasn't won a football game at Dietz Stadium since 1951. In fact, since 1946, the Goldbacks have managed only four victories while losing 16 and tying a pair against Kingston.

If the weatherman's forecast of clear, autumn weather holds true, more than 3,500 are expected to sit in on the proceedings.

Port Jervis Rules Favorite To Defeat Middletown Eleven

Port Jervis is favored by better than a touchdown to halt a four-game losing streak at the hands of Middletown as the two rivals collide for the 88th time Thursday at the Middie gridiron.

The unbeaten but once tied Raiders, coached by Joe Viglione, can clinch no worse than a tie for the DUSO title with a victory over the Middies. If Kingston should stop Newburgh, then the Raiders would take home the championship, the first at the Orange County school since 1947.

Middletown has a wide edge in the series, having won 52 games against 29 for Port Jervis. Six contests have ended in ties. The last time Port Jervis won was in 1958 by a margin of 40-0. Since then the Middies have scored 30-7, 26-13, 19-6, and 27-0 verdicts.

The Raiders feature a pro-style offense with quarterback Ricky Spears at the throttle. Spears is an adroit passer, a good runner and a smart field general. He's the key to the offense and has made it go all season long.

Backfield Speed

Halfbacks Ray Schulz and Jim Perrego and sophomore fullback John Bell are all speedsters, capable of breaking a game wide open from any part of the field. Reliable Joe Nolan backs up any of the starters and does the place kicking for the Porters.

The Port line, led by all-league guard Brian Seeber, is tough. Seeber is the key. He's a 5-10, 198 pound star who can give as well as take. There isn't a better lineman in the league.

John Brunner, finishing his initial season as head coach at Middletown, has brought his inexperienced club along through a suicide schedule and a rash of injuries. The Middies hit their peak nearly three weeks ago when they beat Kingston, 26-6, to record their first win after six straight setbacks.

Good Receiver

The Middies have two good quarterbacks in Pete Annis and Bob Scott. They have a promising end in Bill Barnes and he caught four touchdown passes against Kingston. He plays the "lonesome" end position and is big and fast.

Middletown doesn't have the big threat along the turf though Vince Monaco, Neil Simmons and Chuck Krogslund can pick up the short yardage.

On defense, the Middies haven't been too sharp but they have improved and might be ready for their strongest showing of the season. They will have to keep the speedy Port backs from going outside and getting the long run. It will be a tough job.

Onteora Loses in Overtime

After leading all the way, Onteora Central cagers were knotted near the end of regulation time and then lost a thrilling overtime verdict, 69-68, against visiting Fleischmanns last night.

The visitors knotted the count with 1:30 to play and both sides then exchanged baskets before the finish.

In the overtime, a basket by George Loveless send the Indians ahead, 66-65. Then the winners made four straight points before John Phelan countered with one for the losers.

Onteora had other chances to score but couldn't put in the clincher.

John Mower had 17 points and Linden Frasier 15 for coach Wes Kissel's club. John Valk rimmed 26 points for the winners.

Onteora won the jayvee contest, 59-46.

McKinney finished with nine buckets and eight free throws for his total. Bruce McElrath had 11 markers.

By ED PALLADINO

Newburgh Free Academy and Port Jervis are deadlocked for first place in the DUSO league as they head into their annual Thanksgiving Day tussles with Kingston and Middletown.

At the conclusion of the games, both clubs will be in the same position. We like Newburgh over Kingston, 20-13, and pick the Raiders to snuff out Middletown's hopes, 26-7.

NEWBURGH ON DEFENSE

We like the Goldbacks because they are much better than Kingston on defense. Newburgh held the vaunted Port Jervis offense to only a pair of touchdowns and one of those was made by the defensive club.

Coach Rip Fornal's team isn't overpowering on offense, but then either is Kingston. In fact, the locals haven't scored more than one touchdown in a game since the second contest of the season.

One thing the locals have in their favor, in addition to the home team edge and also the fact that every KHS grid squad seems to be at its peak when it meets Newburgh, is the slowness of the visiting backfield.

Aside from Kris Jackson, the Goldies don't have the speedster who is liable to break open a game with one run. Pete Petrillo, the Goldie quarterback, is the best runner on the club but he doesn't make the long gainers.

Kingston can win this one but it will take a far superior effort than the locals have shown in any game to date.

PORT ON OFFENSE

There isn't a club in the league with faster backs than the Raiders. Middletown, despite its win over Kingston, didn't flash any ground power at all. Port can also pass well and has a much better defense than the Middies.

We doubt very much if the home side will come close to winning this one. True, Middletown has toughened up against a suicide schedule. True, the game is being played in Middletown and true, it's a contest in which comparative scores are thrown out the window.

Despit the optimism in the Middle camp, we feel Port will dominate this one from start to finish.

THE SAME OLD STORY

For the umpteenth time we are questioning the decision of the four schools to continue the ancient tradition and play this game on Thanksgiving.

You remember last year the downpour preceding the game. It made the NFA field look like the Hudson River at high tide.

In other years there have been cases of the game being played in a snow storm or in freezing weather which even the eskimos wouldn't enjoy.

TWO GAMES IN FIVE WEEKS

This season there is another reason why we feel the annual classic should be played earlier — maybe around Veterans Day.

Kingston played six games in the first half dozen weeks of the grid season. The final games — with Middletown and with Newburgh — are spaced so they are being contested within a five week period.

It's just like starting the season all over again. The locals played Middletown on Nov. 9 and whichever way you figure it, that was 19 days ago. If you don't think its tough for the coaching staff to keep the boys interested in football for that period of time, just ask them.

There's no sense in belaboring this issue because come next Thanksgiving and many more after, the two games will continue to be played. After all, who would dare fight tradition?

Baltimore Loss Is 'Foul' Play

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't mention charity to Bob Leonard, coach of the National Basketball Association's Baltimore Bullets.

The Philadelphia 76ers all but handed Tuesday night's game to Baltimore with foul shots but Leonard's Bullets misfired from the free throw line and lost their ninth in the last 10 games.

Hal Greer's last second basket gave Philadelphia the victory, 115-113, after the Bullets kept the 76ers alive by blowing 15 of 36 free throw attempts. Greer's 12-footer was in the air as the final buzzer sounded and when it swished through Philadelphia had its fourth straight triumph and fifth in a row at home.

Al Bianchi coached Philadelphia in the absense of Dolph Schayes, who was in New York because of the death of his mother.

In a New York doubleheader, a crowd of 14,585 watched Cincinnati limit Wilt Chamberlain to 23 points and whip San Francisco, 123-112, and Los Angeles stifle a last-gasp New York rally to win, 119-112.

School Children Visit Hayden, Natural Museum

The fourth grade (p. m.) of the Woodstock elementary school recently visited the Hayden Planetarium and the Museum of Natural History on a field trip to New York City. The visit climaxed the class unit on the Solar System and Outer Space.

The sky show at the Planetarium was most appropriately entitled "Exploring the Moon." Prior to the show the children had a chance to see a moving model of six of the nine planets in our solar system and their satellites. The sky show gave a description of the moon in its phases and of its changing position among the consellations. It aso showed a landing craft that was actually under construction for the purpose of exploring the moon.

After the visit to Planetarium, the class split into groups, each led by an accompanying mother and toured the Museum of Natural History. The parent chaperones were Mrs. Irving Kalish, Mrs. William Pierpont. The African mammal exhibt, the dinosaurs and the life-size whale seem to have been the favorites of the children. The group returned home tired, but full of information about space, the moon and wild animals.

Hysteria Is Missing As Kennedys Plan To Mark Holiday

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —The bereaved parents of assassinated President John F. Kennedy prepared today for the family's annual Thanksgiving reunion, saddened this year by the sudden loss of their eldest son.

The Kennedys, traditionally, have joined former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy for Thanksgiving dinner and a family reunion at the seaside house which has been their summer home for years.

The late President's two surviving brothers and three sisters and their families are expected for the customary turkey dinner on Thursday. So is Jacqueline Kennedy, the young widow, and her two children, Caroline, 6 today, and John, 3.

The Thanksgiving reunions have been a big thing for the elder Kennedy, despite the crippling effects of the stroke which paralyzed him in 1961.

No other man ever had three sons who held the offices of president, attorney general and U. S. senator at the same time.

The shattering blow of the pointless slaying of their President son has been borne with deep grief, but without hysteria, according to an old family friend, the Rev. John Cavanaugh, president emeritus of Notre Dame University.

Word came Tuesday night that the President's widow would interrupt the task of packing for her move from the White House, to fly to Cape Cod Thursday morning with her two children to visit their grandparents for Thanksgiving Day.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who occupies the Senate seat once held by the late President, are expected at Hyannis Port either late today or Thursday morning, with their families.

Oswald Filed for ACLU

EAST PATERSON, N.J. (AP) —The American Civil Liberties Union says that 18 days before President Kennedy was slain, Lee Harvey Oswald, his accused assassin, applied for ACLU membership.

The organization said a clerk came across Oswald's application Tuesday among 351 others. None had been entered on membership lists, the ACLU said.

No Resignations Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Tuesday that nobody in the late President John F. Kennedy's staff has handed in a resignation to President Johnson.

The new President, the White House said, is standing on his word that he is leaving to each of Kennedy's former top assistants to determine whether he wishes to continue to serve the incoming administration.

Jap Stabs Sweetheart

TOKYO (AP)—Police reported Senmatsu Moro stabbed and injured his sweetheart, fearing he was losing her to another man, and then took poison. He was reported in critical condition today. Moro is 68, his sweetheart 64.

Demos Halt Activity

NEW YORK (AP) — State Democratic Chairman William H. McKeon has ordered a moratorium on the party's Partisan political activity until Jan. 1 out of respect for President Kennedy's memory.

No Party, No Favors

Caroline's Birthday Just Grim Reminder of Tragedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today is Caroline Kennedy's sixth birthday. She had expected to have an ice cream-and-cake party in her White House home for the third year in a row.

She could have expected her smiling, handsome father to come and watch the fun for at least a moment. He always did.

Party Dress Ready

She probably had her party dresss all ready. White House emissaries had bought the party favors.

Five days ago, Caroline and her brother John Jr., were suddenly taken to their grandmother Auchincloss' for dinner.

They were back in their own beds at 4:30 a.m. when a Navy ambulance pulled up to the big front portico of their home amid television floodlights and their mother came up the steps with blood spattered on her clothes.

Next day, White House spokesmen said, Caroline and her brother learned the news that meant their father would come to no more of their happy parties.

Their mother took them by the hand into the huge East Room where they had watched dancing and receptions and entertainment and where their father had stood stiffly in the doorway while the scarlet-coated Marine Band they loved played "Hail to the Chief."'

This time, there were black ribbons on the huge, glittering crystal chandeliers and a big coffin stood in the center of the room.

Go to Daddy—in Coffin

Their mother took them by the hand—in their pale blue coats, red shoes and white socks—to ride in a long parade to the Capitol. When they climbed the long steps with her, the coffin was there again draped with a big American flag.

Next day they drove with their nurse and met their mother at the church and went inside with her to listen to prayers and speeches. The coffin was there again.

After darkness fell Tuesday night, Mrs. Kennedy took Caroline to her father's grave for the first time.

For about 10 minutes they stood alone in the soft blue glow of the flickering eternal light, and then went home—a home they would soon leave.

New Cold Front Changes Mild Day Forecast for 28th

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A cold front moved into New York today and changed the previous forecast of generally mild weather Thanksgiving Day.

The Weather Bureau said temperatures tonight would range mostly in the 20s and 30s, amid snow flurries or rain. The bureau predicted continued cold tomorrow in most of the eastern half. Temperatures are expected to moderate in the western half and east of Lake Ontario, under mostly cloudy skies. Eastern skies will be partly cloudy, the bureau said.

The bureau foresaw a general rain Saturday in the eastern half, and scattered showers Friday and Sunday in the western half.
